Antioch gets set for Arbor Day festivities

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The Arbor Day Committee made a presentation to the Antioch Village Board in anticipation of the annual Arbor Day festivities. On Arbor Day, April 22, the committee will give away up to five free seedlings. The only cost is the promise to care for them.

Al Little, of the committee reviewed the history of the celebration in Antioch. The board viewed a slide presentation of the various plantings which took place in Antioch.

"Our planting is pretty aggressive," said Little of this year's plan. "Our funds are limited. One of our biggest supporters is the Antioch Rotary Club."

The committee's planting plan for this year will be for Williams Park. Little hopes to put in 105 trees.

In 1992 52 trees were put in Centennial Park. In 1993, 33 trees were planted in Osmond Park, and in 1994, 21 trees were put in Williams Park.

One of the bonuses of this rigorous planting schedule, besides the shade and oxygen these trees will someday provide, is Antioch's designation of Tree City USA. Antioch has received this award for three straight years.

Once again, the public is invited to join in the effort on April 22 at Williams Park. The distributions will take place there between 10 a.m. and noon. Hot dogs and pop will be available for planters.

Last year, 1,500 trees were distributed. "We're planning to give out 1,000 trees," said Little. With only 1,000 trees available, residents are asked to make reservations by writing to Al Little, Arbor Day Committee, PO Box 288, Antioch, IL 60002.

County to discuss septic maintenance

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Tony Smithson of the Lake County Environmental Health Division will be discussing septic system maintenance at the next meeting of the United Homeowners Association of Unincorporated Antioch (UHAUA).

Smithson will offer tips on how homeowners can extend the life of their septic fields. Also, Smithson will explain the County regulations regarding septic fields and answer questions.

The meeting will be held at St. Stephen's Church in Antioch on March 21, at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Also to be discussed at the meeting will be the progress of the proposed feasibility study. Last week, the County Public Service Committee met for an interim report on the number of letters of interest received from Antioch residents.

At the meeting, Lake County Public Works Superintendent Al

Galantha noted a preponderance of letters of interest were received from the areas around Lake Catherine, Channel Lake, and Lake Marie. However, Galantha said, in order for the study to take place, more letters from residents near Grass Lake, Loon Lake, and the North Avenue areas are needed.

Antioch Township Assessor Cliff Houghton has said there are approximately 4,900 septic fields in Antioch Township. To date, almost 1,600 homeowners have expressed interest in having the study.

For more information regarding the upcoming meeting or the sewer feasibility study, call 395-7371.

Voters form 'Committee of 34'

A group of taxpayers and parents of Antioch Community Consolidated School District 34 have formed the "Committee of 34" in response to the Lake Villa Township unit district proposition. The Committee of 34's theme is "Unity for A.L.L.," which includes Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst.

The Committee of 34 has established two goals. One, spearheading the petition drive designed to urge the Illinois General Assembly to correct the legislation which currently disenfranchises all Antioch District 34 voters outside of Lake Villa Township.

Goal two will be to provide voters with complete information regarding the impact of the unit district on District 34 prior to the election.

Anyone interested in additional information or wishing to make a donation to the Committee of 34 may contact co-chairpersons Sharon Oldenburger and Mary Turner, or Treasurer Vickie Axton.

Crane to speak to Chamber

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce & Industry will host Congressman Phil Crane at its March Mixer to be held, 6:30 p.m., Saturday, March 18, at Hogans Restaurant. Crane will speak about "How Government Will Affect Business." There will be an hors d'oeuvre buffet and cash bar. Tickets are $10 in advance or $15 at the door. For information call 395-2233.

Supporters say unit best choice for growth

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Lake Villa unit district backers simply feel their proposal is the best alternative for all affected districts to handle the future growth of the area.

"The unit district initially will stave off immediate needs for growth," said Joyce Heneberry, vice president of the Committee of Ten, who talked at length about issues.

A major issue is how school districts outside of Lake Villa township will benefit from the plan.

Heneberry said, if approved, the unit district would eliminate the need for a building referendum for Antioch High School because 55 percent of the students will be gone. She said the district would see an increase in Equalized Assessed Valuation (EAV) per pupil.

"The benefits for District 34 will flow through District 117," said Heneberry.

However, if the unit is approved, it would take control of Oakland School which is in Lake Villa Township. District 34 would have to either tuition students to the new unit or find another place for the students to go.

Each school district would have to give a portion of their assets to the unit district. Conversely, the unit shares in any liability of the district to the proportion of unit students currently in the district.

In the division of assets, Grayslake High School Superintendent Ray Novak has expressed concern they will lose money because of the unit. Technically they would have to pay a portion of their assets to the new unit.

However, the unit must pay a portion of the $7 million debt from the high school expansion. Also, the unit is expected to pay the high school its portion of the debt and get paid 10 percent of the tuition back from the high school as payment in the division of assets.

Novak said the district will still lose money each year taking this formula into account.

Heneberry points out the campaign promise reported last week, is that, a promise by school board candidates telling voters how they would divide the assets. She said they were following the state reorganization plan which encourages committees to stipulate what they will do.

She said unit supporters are working on final numbers and expect to submit them to affected school boards as soon as possible.

Heneberry explained, if the unit school was approved, the regional superintendent would appoint an independent appraiser to determine assets of each district. The Lake Villa unit district school board would then negotiate with affected school districts to determine division of assets.

"We have to do what's in the best interests of the kids, that includes all of the affected districts outside Lake Villa Township," said Heneberry.

The unit district would be a K-12 district which would cover most of Lake Villa Township. The district will take portions of Antioch, Grayslake and Grant high school districts. It will also take all of Lake Villa Elementary District, most of the students in the Millburn Elementary District and part of Antioch Elementary District.

Voters will be asked if they support the unit district. Those living within the district boundaries will be asked if they want a $39.5 million building bond for a high school and an elementary school. They will also select a school board. The issue will be on the April ballot.

If the proposition wins, the school board will have to meet with the affected districts and come to a decision on the division of assets. If they can't agree, the regional superintendent will make the final determination.

Teen suspect in plot to kill father

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Kenosha, Wis. law enforcement authorities believe a new gang took on a task bigger than it could handle when members tried to plot to kill Donald Taft Sr. of Wadsworth.

Donald Taft Jr., age 18, faces charges of burglary and solicitation for murder. A preliminary hearing was expected in Kenosha on Tuesday. His father had submitted the required $15,000 cash bail, Perri said.

"We were investigating a new gang in Kenosha because we had a lot of complaints about them regarding burglaries. Then a couple of female members of the group started talking after the male members had burglarized their homes," Kenosha Det. Louis Perri said.

After establishing the credibility of the informants and meeting requirements of a conspiracy case, Kenosha police learned of the plot to kill Taft Sr. Lake County Sheriff's Department authorities were contacted and a surveillance ordered for the Taft residence. The son had fled to Deerfield, where he was taken into custody by Lake County Sheriff's police. This took place at a grandmother's home on Feb. 24.

"We were acting as an assisting agency," Chester Iwan, chief investigator for Lake County Sheriff's Department, said.

"We defused a potentially dangerous situation," Perri said.

Kenosha authorities said they did not know about how long the Tafts lived in Wadsworth, or if he was a product of local schools. They believed he and his father lived alone. The father owned a car wash in Waukegan.

Perri explained up to nine persons, some Illinois and some Wisconsin juveniles, could be charged.

Law enforcement officials including the FBI believe the plan was to kill Taft Sr., then have Taft Jr. inherit the home and father's business.

"But it all fell through. They were a new gang and they self destructed," Perri said.

Gurnee suspect guilty of murder

SPENCER SCHEIN

Staff Reporter

The second of four defendants in a 1991 Lake County homicide was found guilty of first-degree murder by a Lake County judge.

Brian Evans, 22, of Gurnee, was found guilty by Circuit Court Judge Charles Scott of murdering and burying the body of a young drug dealer from Chicago more than three years ago.

Evans was amongst a group of three others who had lured the drug dealer, Kevin Strauther, 17, out to a wooded area in Wauconda Township intending to rob him.

When Strauther suspected something was up, he was shot in the forehead and dragged to a shallow pit where he was buried, law officials said.

Lake County States Attorney Michael J. Waller said Evans was originally supposed to be the "trigger man," but once Strauther suspected something was awry, the situation changed.

Robert Garite, 18, of Woodstock, (also known as Robert Samms), took hold of the .357 revolver Evans brought to the scene and shot the victim, officials said.

Both Garite and Chad Evans, 21, of Gurnee, are set to stand trial on March 20 for their part in the murder. Chad and Brian Evans are brothers.

Scott also found Brian Evans guilty of concealment of a homicidal death.

The fourth man involved in the homicidal death was Zackory Kroeger, 18, of Island Lake, has already pleaded guilty to armed robbery and received a 15-year prison sentence, Waller said. He also provided testimony against the three other individuals, he said.

Strauther remained missing until his body was found in the shallow grave covered with twigs and rocks in the field, north of Bonner Road and west of Fairfield Road, three years after he was buried, and only after the Lake County Sheriff's Police were told of the crime by a girlfriend of one of the men, officials said.

Evans is scheduled to appear in court April 24 for sentencing, where he could be facing the possibility of life in prison without parole, or up to 100 years in prison, officials said.

All four individuals are still being held in custody at Lake County Jail.

Lizard sheds skin, Pringle takes over — PEOPLE NEWS

Yes, it's true

If you missed last week's column here in "Hometown Goodies," you haven't a clue as to what is going on, so I'll fill you in and shame on you for not reading the column on the third. For those of you who are dedicated readers and know "The Lizard" has officially retired, bear with me a moment.

Yes, it's true. The Lizard has shed her skin, as that species of reptile does every now and then. She has graciously relinquished her well-worn typewriter to me; actually she only handed over some notes, some ideas and her monthly birthday list. I begged for the computer, but the old Lizard wouldn't part with it. The introduction she wrote for me was so glowing that after I read it, I thought, "Who in the world is she talking about? Did she go and offer the job to someone else and not tell me?"

I hope I can do the job she says I'm capable of doing. Up until now, my writing talent, such as it is, has been bestowed only upon my friends and family in my annual Christmas letter. (Don't you just hate those annual letters—a column in itself.)

I will give you fair warning, this is your column. So, if you don't want to see "cutesie" Pringle family stories filling these lines, you had better contact me with your family, school, church or club activities, upcoming events, meeting schedules or any other "Hometown" news.

Lynn Who?

Just a little about myself, if I may. I have lived in Antioch all of my life, except for the first nine months right after Neal and I were married. We lived in Fox Lake for that short time. A very unusual nine months that will probably pop up now and then in my future ramblings here in "Hometown Goodies."

I live a very average life, some think I have too much free time on my hands. I have two daughters who are basically pretty good kids; well, there have been a few incidents with my youngest. In fact, I'm looking for a Military Preschool for her, so if you have any leads on that I surely would appreciate a call. As for my husband Neal, well I got the word from day one, "No stories about me!" That's not an exact quote, but it's more printable.

I'm sorry to say I won't have any carp whale stories or old friend conversations as "The Lizard" was well known for, but Camp Crayon tidbits may appear because my youngest will be going there in the fall if the Military Preschool thing doesn't work out.

So bear with me, folks, as I blunder through here. Laugh with me or at me. It doesn't matter; as long as you chuckle now and then, I feel my job is complete, my goal has been reached, my life has some meaning. Enough about me, so now let's get down to business.

Special birthday

Former Antiochians, Celia, Victor and Leslie Bennett, now of Oxford, Ga., recently traveled to Birmingham, Ala. to visit Cari and Nick Maloof in order to celebrate their grandson's/nephew's first birthday. The couldn't believe how much little Nicholas had grown, and of course they reported that he is definitely the best little 1-year-old in the entire world—sounds a little partial to me. I hope a good time was had by all and I am sure that grandma, grandpa and auntie lavished enough hugs and kisses on Nicholas to last until their next visit.

More birthdays

I wish to extend a belated Happy Birthday to my brother, Doug, who celebrated his special day on March 5, and my youngest daughter, Stephanie, who turned 3 on March 6.

My brother still contends: the two share the same birthday. Stephie was born in the wee hours of the morning on the sixth. Doug figures, give the time difference, if I had given birth in Hawaii, it would still have been the fifth. Believe me,

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

LYNN

I would rather have been in Hawaii and giving birth would not have been on my itinerary.

After Stephanie was born, I wanted to name her Barbie, give her the middle initial "Q," and she would have been Barbie Q. Pringle. Neal, "Mr. No-Sense-Of-Humor," (I'm going to pay for that one), absolutely refused to sign the birth certificate. My philosophy on the subject is—as teenagers, your children search out reasons to dislike you as parents, so I figure if you give them a ridiculous name, they have just cause to think you're an idiot. Good philosophy, don't you think? I bet Dr. Spock wished he had me on his panel of advisors.

Anyway, Happy Birthday Stephanie and Uncle Doug, and maybe next year we will get more boy toys.

Baby makes three

A future football player was born to Rick and Dawn Keefer of Antioch. "Not-so-little" Kyle Jacob Keefer was born on Feb. 6 at 4:45 a.m. He broke the scale at 11 pounds, 10 ounces. Ouch! That had to be a boy, because no girl would do that to her mom. So much for all those newborn baby clothes you got as presents.

Bernie and George Keefer are very excited over becoming first-time grandparents and in such a "big" way—as are Uncle Tim Keefer, Grandma Barb Smith and Great-Grandma Mildred Smith. Good luck and best wishes to all of you and let us know when "Refrigerator" Kyle gets drafted by the Chicago Bears!

Way to go Ray

When my oldest daughter, Tricia, attended Camp Crayon and her February birthday rolled around, the staff got quite accustomed to seeing the Floral Acres truck driving up with a special delivery for "The Princess" from her dear old dad. Now that Tricia is in Kindergarten (and yes, a special delivery was made to her at her big-girl school), rumor has it that Miss Marie has taken over the "Floral Spotlight." My informant told me that a beautiful floral arrangement was hand-delivered to Miss Marie by hubby Ray on Valentine's Day. I trust there was a camera on hand.

Kindergarten sign up

For all you moms and dads living in the Grass Lake School district, there will be a Kindergarten Screening/Sign Up on Tuesday, March 14 and Thursday, March 16 from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. To be eligible to attend Kindergarten during the 1995-96 school year, a child must be 5 years old on or before Sept. 1, 1995. A birth certificate and proof of residency must be presented at sign up. For more information call Susan Anderson at Grass Lake School at 395-1550.

It's over

Well, folks, my debut column here in "Hometown Goodies" has come to a close. I hope you're not too unkind in your comments as I will be reading the "Lip Service" part of this paper first next week. So ends another "Jingle from Pringle"...don't forget to give me a call at 395-6364.

Antioch AARP Chapter news

Antioch AARP Chapter 387 held its regular meeting on Feb. 28. Lunch was served by the Senior Center under the direction of Paul Howard, Coordinator.

After the presentation of flags and rendition of the song "America" accompanied by Emily Novotny at the piano, the meeting was opened by President Genevieve Horsch. Larry Smith, of the Prairie State Legal Services, spoke to the members. He told of the many legal services which are free to Seniors and advised them to call the office (1-800-418-8500) for information and help.

Members donated $74 in a collection for the Lake County Food Drive which will take place through March 18. Lois McDonna and Dolores Ramsdell will purchase canned goods and unperishable foods to be delivered to the Rescue Squad for distribution to needy families.

To settle a dispute, President Horsch explained that the .50 collected before each meeting covered kitchen expenses.

Vickie Bock, Health Chairperson, gave members some good advice on "Eating Healthy Foods" with less sodium and fats.

Rose Dunaj told members of a Federal Program which provides free prescription drugs for Seniors with limited income.

The Chapter will celebrate St. Patrick's Day at the meeting on March 14. Lunch will be catered and tickets are necessary.

Meeting adjourned with retirement of the flags by flag bearers Emil Sobotto and Frank Keim.

Chamber makes plans for coming year

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry Board of Directors held their February meeting. All directors were present, as well as members Frank DiMarco, Claude LeMere, Jim Hyerdall, Kimberly Youngquist and Chamber secretary Vivian Dost.

Claude LeMere began the evening by outlining projects and planned events for 1995 to the board. Events include auto shows, beautification, addressing parking concerns, Halloween Howl, billboards, arts and crafts shows, Easter parade and the Fourth of July celebrations.

Frank DeMarco gave an update on the 1995 Taste of Antioch which is sponsored each year by the Chamber of Commerce. This year the Taste will be extended by one day to include Sunday until 6 p.m. Entertainment for Sunday will be a family day theme.

An update of the Easter Bunny schedule and parade was given by Ed Cimaglio. The Bunny will be visiting with kids inside Brans Nuts this year to prevent any cancellation due to weather. The Chamber thanks Brans Nuts for "housing" this event.

An update was also given on the Arts & Crafts Faire to be held in June and September. Toft St. and the Antioch Lower Grade School will be the locations for each faire. Sites for 250 artisans and crafters are available on a first-come, first-served basis. Interested parties can call the Chamber office at 395-2233 for more information.

Don Mosher presented a golf questionnaire that will be mailed to the membership asking for thoughts and ideas regarding the golf outing. After questionnaires are returned, Mosher will coordinate ideas to make the golf outing more of a "Swinging Good Time."

The Antioch Gift Certificate program was presented by Karen Dunham in regards to prizes for CAN's Beautification project in downtown Antioch. Gift certificates are being designed and more details are to follow.

The Chamber's newsletter was presented by Barbara Porch and the new and improved look of the newsletter was approved. The new format will incorporate advertising space for the membership. There will be space available for six ads running on the back page. Cost is $30 per month, with a two consecutive month commitment.

The Chamber is exploring the possibility of creating an Antioch Directory, a restaurant brochure and upgrading the look of all Chamber publications that reach the public.

"An Evening With Phil Crane" will be held Saturday, March 18, at Hogan's. Tickets may be purchased in advance for $10 from the Chamber office or at the door for $15.

The board of directors meet the fourth Tuesday of each month at 6:30 p.m. at The Advertiser. Meetings are open to the membership and members are encouraged to attend.

Teacher attends national meeting

Sue Schmitt, Antioch Community High School English teacher, spent five days in Washington DC as a representative of the 80,000-member Illinois Education Association at the annual meeting of the National Education Association's Resolutions Committee. Schmitt was elected last July in New Orleans to serve as one of the five representatives allocated to Illinois.

The Resolutions Committee is charged with writing the policy and belief statements for the 2.2 million NEA members. Its recommendations will be voted upon by the delegates to the 1995 Representative Assembly held in Minneapolis in July.

At the meeting held at NEA headquarters, Schmitt was elected by the committee as one of five people recommended to NEA President Keith Geiger for appointment to the Internal Editing Committee of the Resolutions Committee.

"I am very pleased to have been elected by my peers for this honor. The committee consists of dedicated leaders from all 50 states," said Schmitt. "To be recognized by them as one of their leaders is particularly gratifying." Geiger makes the appointment next September.

Cable future discussed at Rotary

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The future of cable television was the featured presentation at the Antioch Rotary Club luncheon this week. Paul Ashley of US Cable was on hand to tell club members where the industry is headed.

"Lots of things have been happening in the industry," said Ashley. "There has been a tremendous boom."

Ashley predicts more channels will be available soon increasing the amount of programs viewers can watch. "One hundred plus channels may be available within the next year or so," said Ashley.

In addition, he told Rotarians the increased use of fiber optics allows the company to reduce the amount of amplifiers needed. This is important because the more amplifiers used, the greater the chance of malfunctions and service interruptions.

"We have fiber optics from North Chicago to Routes 173 and 59," explained Sally. "I live on Cross Lake (in Antioch). At one time we had 38 amplifiers. It increased the amount of things that could go wrong."

According to Ashley, US Cable is very proud of the service improvements it has made during the last several years. He reports the "up time," which is the amount of time during the day cable television is actually operating properly, is at 99.9 percent. This is a substantial improvement considering the service problems experienced by Antioch residents only a couple of years ago.

While there have been many articles written about receiving cable-like television service through telephone wires, Ashley believes the technology just isn't ready yet in that cable wiring allows for a greater amount of information flow.

"They (telephone wiring) can only provide 12 to 13 channels," said Ashley. "At best 30 channels."

Instead, Ashley believes "video on demand" will be the wave of the future. This would allow customers to watch whatever they want, whenever they want. Similar to the "pay per view," except on a larger scale.

"Video on demand - that's where the industry is going to go," said Ashley. "Watching what you want, when you want to watch it. Big file servers will be able to pull the programs."

Rotary celebrates 90 years of service

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

On Feb. 23, 1905 four men met in a small office in Chicago. The group included a lawyer, a tailor, a coat dealer and a mining engineer. As it turned out, this was the very first Rotary club meeting.

By the end of 1905, the club had 30 members. Three years later, a second club formed in San Francisco. In the fourth year, three more clubs were formed and the first Rotary convention was held in 1910.

Initially, women were not allowed to join, but in 1989 women were officially welcomed into the club. Currently, there are over 1.2 million members in more than 27,000 clubs.

The club's motto is "service above self," and this spirit is alive and active in Antioch. In the first part of 1994, the Antioch Rotary Club members contributed $7,895 to groups such as PADS, Camp Moyoca, Hastings Lake YMCA, ALL Parent Network, St. Peter School, Community Telecare, Emmons and Antioch Community High schools, as well as many others.

For the second half of 1994, funding requests for $4,115 had been approved. These donations would go towards the purchase of a computer for Antioch Lower Grade School, counseling tapes for NICASA, and to other needy organizations.

The money donated to these groups was the result of direct donations by members and the many fund raisers held throughout the year. Last year's auction was the most successful in Antioch Rotary's history. The gross proceeds were in excess of $60,000.

The Antioch Rotary Club has 46 members and Ulrich Kuehn is president. For more information call 356-2834.

Lakeland Bank celebrates newly renovated facility

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

The expansion of Lakeland Community Bank was inevitable.

Since the facility opened on Rollins Rd., 1991, its growth could be averaged to about 35 percent.

On March 17 and March 18 during regular banking hours, a grand opening celebration will take place for everyone.

Refreshments will be served, entertainment for the children will be there, and a raffle with a grand prize of $5,000 US Series EE Bond are only part of the activities planned.

Lakeland was born out of a venture by President Gerald O'Sullivan and several shareholders. Previously, O'Sullivan was the president of the Fox Lake State Bank.

Admitting the idea to start a new bank was risky, O'Sullivan and the others interested, approached state officials about a charter. Before they knew it, they not only had the charter, but had $3 million to start.

That mere $3 million grew in just nine months to $12 million. The $12 million grew to $22 million, and that soon turned into $36 million.

Lakeland Community Bank has been one of the fastest growing banks in Lake County with total assets already exceeding $41 million, explained O'Sullivan.

"Our success really has deemed grass roots," said the president. O'Sullivan explained over 80 percent of the growth comes from referrals of existing customers. "That falls in line with our philosophy. It doesn't begin and end with the front door," he explained.

Not only has Lakeland made a huge cosmetic restructuring,

Kindergarten to register students

Registration for fall Kindergarten is being held for residents of Antioch Community Consolidated School Dist. 34 on April 11 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2 to 4 p.m.; and April 12 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Parents should register at the school their child will attend: Antioch Elementary School, 817 N. Main St., 395-0845; or Oakland Grade School, 22018 W. Grass Lake Rd., 395-1730.

A student must be 5 years old on or before Sept. 1 to enter Kindergarten. Parents will need a birth certificate or hospital birth record form and proof of residency in School Dist. 34 (driver's license, utility bill receipt, tax bill receipt) at the time of registration.

The child must have his/her report of a physical examination, second measles shot and lead screening completed prior to registration in August or he/she will not be allowed to register.

For questions, parents should call the appropriate school.

but they've expanded their staff as well.

Tellers have gone from three to six inside the bank which dons a comfortable, homey atmosphere complete with a fireplace. The drive-through tellers now total four.

The staff since June of 1991 has grown from six to a grand total of 21.

Some of the new services, explained the bank president, are small business financing, and secondary mortgages. Lots of loan capabilities have also been added, said O'Sullivan, including those for homes, boats and cars.

Besides the new look of the exterior, there is an area inside, designed just for the little ones. A special children's area is a mother's dream while your banking is being taken care of.

"We feel that the mega banks from Wisconsin, Michigan and other parts of Illinois do not have the same interest in the area as those of us that live, work, and raise our families here do," O'Sullivan said.

ENGAGEMENT

Kuphal-Preston

Nancy and Oscar Preston of Ingleside announce the engagement of their daughter, Melody Preston, to Kevin Kuphal, son of Carol and Robert Kuphal of Batavia. A summer 1995 ceremony is planned.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Grant Community High School in Fox Lake and will be a 1995 graduate of Northern Illinois University where she is pursuing a bachelor's degree in special education with a minor in music. She is a developmental trainer at Opportunity House in Sycamore, a facility offering employment and housing opportunities to individuals with disabilities.

The groom-to-be is a graduate of Batavia High School and a graduate of Northern Illinois University where he received a bachelor's degree in English. He is employed in the loan department at the First National Bank of DeKalb.

million to put towards the division of assets.

"In summary, what the unit district does for Antioch is address its two biggest problems: economics and overcrowding," said Ahler. "It certainly takes care of the second problem." However, without accurate division of asset figures, Ahler said he just did not know, "what it does to the economics."

"ACHS has no way of raising that money if it is over $3.5 million unless we take it out of operating funds or go out to bond," said Dick. Dick went on to say he believed the regional superintendent will be required to employ an independent appraiser to look at all the properties concerned. "That is my opinion," said Dick.

Besides the financial impact, the board also discussed the educational impact of reducing ACHS by more than half. While mandatory classes will be unaffected by the change, there will be some reduction on elective courses. "It will have a significant impact on elective programs," said Dick.

The frustration of board members became apparent at this point. "This board has a fiduciary responsibility to an entire district," said Board President Laurel Dahl. "We don't have any accurate facts. I would sure like to know what I am voting on before I vote on it."

"I just want to know what it is going to cost me," said Board Member Rosemary Lipps. That may be the question all voters want answered.

Candidate Mitchell's record criticized

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

Rich Leber, head of the Northwest Regional Treatment Reclamation Facility in Fox Lake, was critical of Fox Waterway Agency candidate James Creighton Mitchell for his actions on the county board in 1988. Leber said Mitchell was the only member who voted down an expansion/new system of the treatment plant, deemed 'failed technology' by the IEPA.

Leber said everyone else voted in favor of the new system, and it passed. Mitchell says he can't recall the issue, but said it may have something to do with his ideas. "I'm a believer in the spray irrigation technology," said Mitchell.

Mitchell, who has never been to one Agency meeting, said he doesn't have to attend in order to run for member of the Waterway board.

"I'm a citizen of Lake Villa Township, that's all I need. I'm a registered voter," said Mitchell. He also pointed to his former political experience.

Mitchell said he learns of the news about the Waterway Agency through local newspapers and what other people tell him. He said some residents have approached him about issues they are concerned with.

If elected, Mitchell said he will set out to right the wrongs with the Agency. He said he is running for director because there are lots of management problems (i.e. finances); the Agency is paying about $100,000 in excess for the Hidden Cove Marina; there are too many drunken boaters at night on the Chain O' Lakes; and there are too many boats in general on the waters.

Overall, said Mitchell, the public has a bad perception of the Agency.

One area that has not been addressed by the board, is the 950 square miles of watershed just west of Milwaukee which goes into the Fox River.

Mitchell has already knocked one candidate off the ballot, and is attempting to stop incumbent Ron Baker from running also.

No one's checked out the consistency of Mitchell's petitions. Baker said he wished he would have, but he's very trusting of people.

Mitchell served two terms on the County board, one appointed and one elected.

County Clerk Willard Helander said Mitchell was on the ballot on Nov. 6, 1984. He received over 18,000 votes in the race against Millicent Berliant of Deerfield who got a little over 16,000 votes for the two-year term.

New bulletin board service available

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

It has been estimated well over half of all the modems on personal computers have never been used. If you are one of those owners, or, if you are interested in a local online bulletin board service, New Chicago may be for you.

With over 100 members already, this eight-month-old service based out of Lake Villa provides real time chatting, E-mail, a software downloading library, plus a whole lot more. Best of all, the whole thing is free.

"We have four CD ROMs loaded with Shareware," said sysop and owner Greg Tipton. "Users can even play games interactively with other users on the service."

New Chicago is open 24 hours and most of the users live in Antioch, Lake Villa, Grayslake, the Round Lakes and Mundelein, although students from the University of Wisconsin have been known to log on.

Just about any communications software can be used and additional graphical applications can be easily downloaded.

Logging on the first time is quite easy. Set your modem to dial 356-4417 and identify yourself as "new." You will then answer several questions in order to register, and you will be given an identification number and a password. The password can be easily changed to suit your needs.

Other users are quite friendly on this service and are quite helpful to the novice. There are several chat areas which provide an opportunity to get to know others using the service. In addition, there is an "adult" chat area which is locked out to users under the age of 18.

Antioch teacher is Golden Apple Award finalist

Darlene Hammer, a behavior disorder teacher for the Special Education District of Lake Co. (SEDOL) assigned to Antioch Community High School, is a finalist in the 1995 Golden Apple Award competition for her positive teaching methods. Her excellence in teaching was honored by the Golden Apple Foundation and past Golden Apple Award winners at the Celebration of Excellence in Teaching event.

The foundation recognizes that no people are more important to society than the teachers who are preparing our children to build the future. The foundation is doing its part to prove this by acknowledging area teachers who have made a positive and profound impact on the lives of their students.

This year, the Golden Apple Foundation received more than 700 nominations of outstanding ninth- through twelfth-grade teachers from Cook, Lake and DuPage counties. These nominees were narrowed to 300 teachers and finally to 30 finalists. These winners will be honored in May in a one-hour prime time special produced by WTTW/Channel 11.

Hammer has found that classroom management is a key to her success for her behavior disorder students. She feels learning is also achieved by creating interest and fun during the teaching process. She has incorporated such learning tools as "The Wheel of Vocabulary."

ACHS teacher Jon Hansen was also a finalist in the Golden Apple Awards.

Power regroups for opening win

The Lindenhurst Power started off its indoor season on a positive note with a win over Gurnee by a 3-2 score.

First game jitters and some tentative play by the Power allowed Gurnee to score first just one-and-a-half minutes into the game.

Lindhurst came back five minutes later on a goal scored by Tracie Foster with an assist coming from Jamie Wismer. Lindhurst then went up 2-1 when Sarah Richardson was able to convert on a rebound pass from Jenny Porter.

Gurnee was not allowed many shots on goal in the second half, but they were able to convert and score the tying goal with just under five minutes to play in the game.

It took just a little over one minute for Lindhurst to score the eventual winning goal when Wismer connected on a volley shot off a chip pass from Richardson.

The defensive play of Nicci Estep, Kristen Hungarian, Porter and Carla Robinson kept Gurnee off of the attack for most of the second half.

Turbos open indoor season with win

The Lindenhurst Turbos U-12 opened their seven-week indoor season at the 41 Sports Club in Highland Park with a 5-3 win against Pegasus Red.

Michael Wheeler had a big game, scoring four of the Turbos' five goals, three coming in the first half of play.

The fifth and final goal was scored by Jeff Prorok on an assist from Matt Peterson in the second half.

The Turbos meet Northbrook next in Highland Park.

Sequoits bow to Warren in sectional semifinal

That magical touch that filled the air to upset heavy favorite Mundelein in the regional title game seemed to be lost as the Sequoits concluded their season stellar against Warren.

Warren shutdown Antioch's three-point shooting and forced off-balanced shots as the Blue Devils ousted Antioch 63-48 from advancing to the sectional title game.

"I think we made it hard on ourselves to score. We did not shoot real well. We were not as strong as we could have been in the post area. That is what good defense does to you," Antioch Coach Jeff Dresser said.

"Warren played a very solid game all over defensively. They played a very solid game. They did not let anybody have a good game. They challenged every shot we took," Dresser said.

Warren's defense held Antioch to just a pair of three-pointers. Kevin Geraghty, whose marksmanship led the way in a regional final upset of Mundelein, was held to one. Eric Eckenstahler concluded his fine Antioch career with a 13-point effort and the other 12 each.

Antioch stayed on even terms with Warren in the first eight minutes as it appeared the Sequoits were ready for a long battle. Geraghty, a junior, had his only trey for a 3-2 lead. Two baskets by Michael Tschanz, another force stopped the rest of the way, gave Antioch its last lead at 7-6.

A top of the key jumper from Eckenstahler cut the Warren lead to 15-13 after one.

Kelver, Foster and Dangel's three-pointer helped to open up a 6-point lead for the Blue Devils and that was extended to 10 points by halftime.

The Warren inside game took over, actually extending the lead to 12 behind points from Bongratz and Luke Moo for a 43-31 margin. See SEMIFINAL page A10

Antioch exhibited a near flawless effort in the first half and shot near perfect from the freethrow line down the stretch to knock off No. 1 seed Mundelein in front of a packed gym in Mustang territory.

The 78-68 upset was the pinnacle of Antioch's seesaw season thus far. For Antioch, the game featured many heroes, and those heroes were awarded the regional trophy for their literal bloody and gutsy labor.

"This is the greatest feeling in my life. I never felt happier," said ace shooter Kevin Geraghty, who poured in 23 points to lead Antioch's offensive attack. Geraghty was a perfect 8-for-8 at the line in the closing minutes in the game and his barrage of three-pointers (3) ignited the Sequoits at key points in the game. He also had the dubious assignment of defending area standout point guard Sean Stackhouse.

"Kevin Geraghty—he played outstanding," said Antioch Coach Jeff Dresser. "Those (treys) came at crucial times for us. Once, I yelled at him to hit it. And then the freethrows, two games ago he said he couldn't hit a freethrow." Well, the 8 out of 8 effort speaks for itself.

Antioch led 43-24 at halftime and as much as 20 at one point, but Mundelein mounted a comeback with a 12-0 scoring drive to open the second half. Stackhouse, who had a game-high 31 points, almost single handedly brought the Mustangs back. After being fouled beyond the three-point perimeter, Stackhouse nailed three freethrows to cut the lead to 72-66, but that would be the closest they would get as Antioch responded with 16 of 19 freethrows of their own in the final two minutes of the game.

"My guards (Geraghty and Eric Campbell) made the freethrows," Dresser said. In its attempt to steal the victory, Mundelein fouled Antioch instantaneously on every inbound during the closing minutes. "We weathered the storm. That's all that counts," Dresser noted.

They weathered many other storms as well.

During a frightening 15 minutes of the contest, Antioch's standout center Eric Eckenstahler wriggled in pain on the floor after being tackled by Ivan Hourruttiner. Eckenstahler was going up for a wide-open slam dunk when Hourruttiner denied Eckenstahler of the points by throwing him to the floor with 6:19 left to play in the second quarter.

With his condition temporarily unknown, Eckenstahler did return to the bench at halftime.

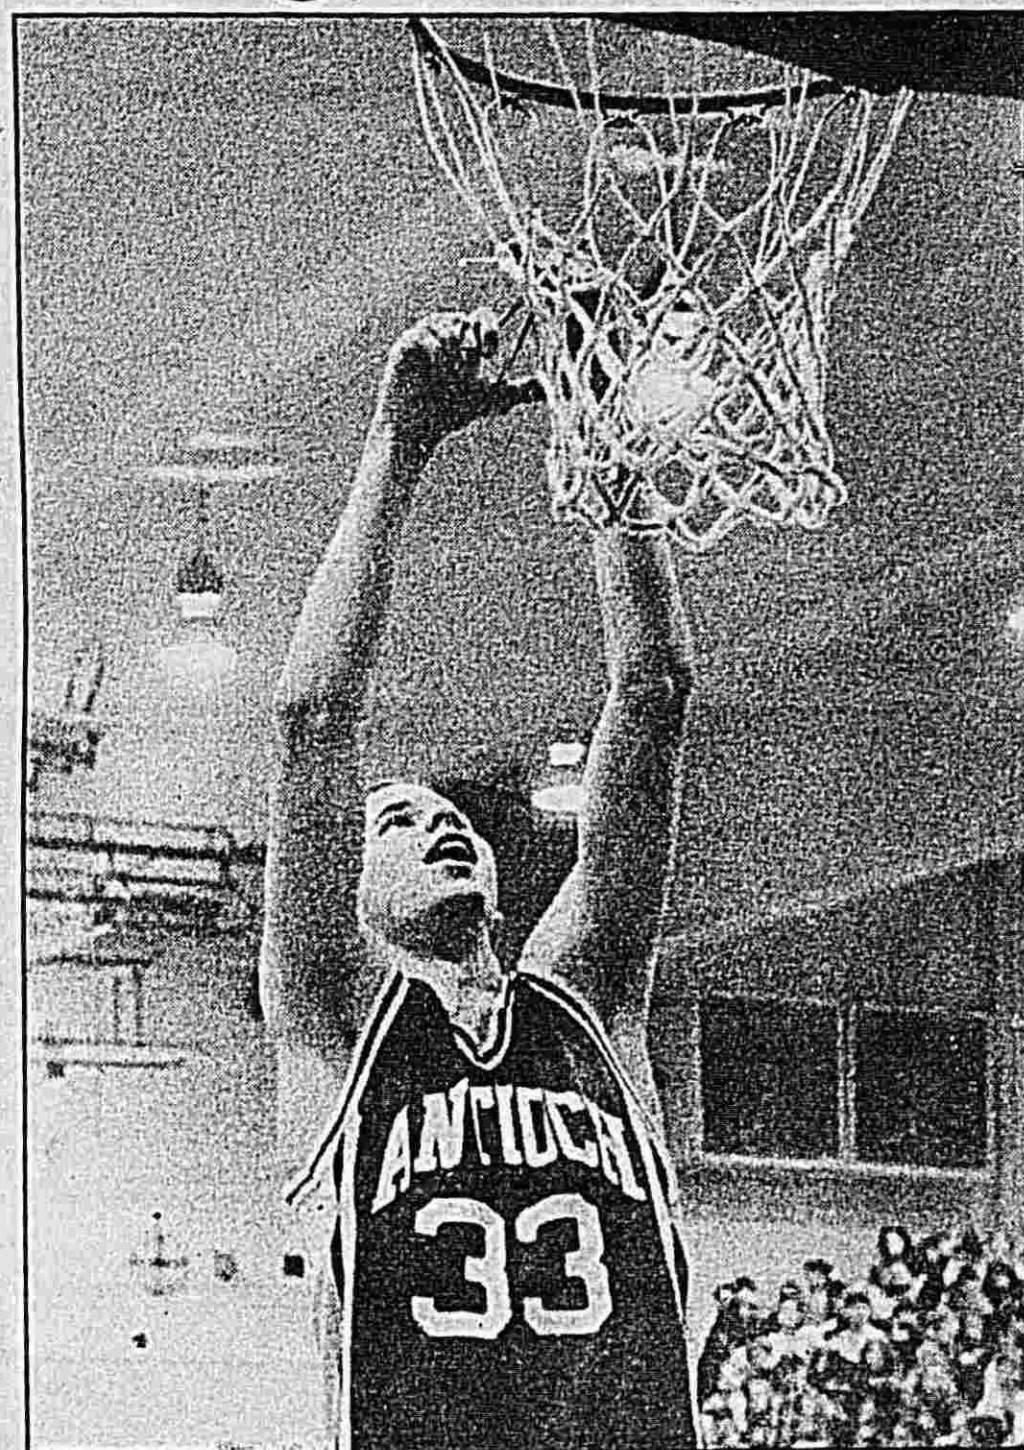

"I was wide open, and I got a good pass from Eric Campbell. I got hit and spun around. I thought I broke my jaw," said Eckenstahler, who was going to get stitches after the game.

But he courageously returned to action in the third quarter.

"I thought I was down for the night, but this game was way too important for me. I just had to be a part of it," Eckenstahler said. And a major part of it, he was, for the 6'7" center tallied 14 points and added 4 blocked shots.

Eric "Soup" Campbell had his work cut out for him as well. The feisty point guard was shadowed by Mundelein's Anthony Varnado, one of the top defenders in the North Suburban Conference, but Campbell prevailed as he never gave up a turnover.

"He was all over me. I was just trying to keep the ball low," said See CROWN page A13

Freshman Rams garner second place at conference

The future looks promising for Grayslake High boys basketball team.

The freshmen team gained second place in the Northwest Suburban Conference with a 12-3 record, 14-7 overall.

Brian Davis and Nick Vlahos, the top two scorers, spent time on the sophomore team this year.

Other top scorers were: Andrew Eldridge, forward Dan Turner and off guard Neil Schroeder.

"We were about eight players deep. This group has a lot of potential. They worked hard and will be going to a lot of camps," Coach Mike Jones said.

Center Brad Cantey took over the scoring leadership in the second half of the season and had three 20-point plus games. Kevin O'Neil added depth.

"We usually scored in the 50's. Our defense got us going,"

Jones said.

Jones is in his third year as head freshman coach.

Campbell, who knocked in 8 points. "It's my job to get the ball up the court and give it to 'Eck' and Kevin (Geraghty)."

His efforts paid off with the regional crown and a chance to play for the sectional title. "Words can't explain this," he said.

Dan Riepe also saw himself in the starting lineup, and he answered with a stellar performance. Riepe garnered 11 hard-earned points in the paint and snatched a number of key rebounds.

"I was so pumped for this game," Riepe said. "They beat us twice before and we were seeking revenge."

Power forward Dave Lawrence came off the bench to contribute with 5 points and to maintain control of the boards under the basket. Justin McRae (4 points) hit two key buckets down the stretch; Michael Tschanz (4 points) drove the lane early in the game to draw Mundelein fouls, and Kevin Eckenstahler (6 points) provided the spark when his older brother hit the floor.

"Everyone I put in contributed," said Dresser, who rattled off the names of all the players who saw action in the grudge match. "This a real shot in the arm for our program. To our seniors, this is a great feeling, especially Eric (Eckenstahler) who has played on teams that have struggled in the past."

Prior to this 15-12 season, Antioch had won only 10 games in the last two seasons. But their perseverance, faith and hard work has been adorned with another regional crown to decorate the trophy case at Antioch High.

"I can't even describe in words what this means to me," Eckenstahler said. "It just means so much to me."

A mini Antioch run cut the lead to 9 after three.

Antioch sought to pressure the Warren guards and Warren seemed rattled, but the Blue Devils stayed on task.

"I did not figure we had the game won until it was 61-42. I felt we were in control, but I have a lot of respect for their team. They always have a chance to shoot the three," said Warren Coach Chuck Ramsey, whose team advanced to the sectional title game Friday.

The Sequoias are now reflecting on a 15-13 season, highlighted by the regional title victory over Mundelein.

Spotlight on Quilter's Dream

Quilter's Dream—just thinking about this conjures thoughts of sewing in a cozy paneled room on a cold winter's night, while sitting in a rocking chair and chatting with a friend. Although this scenario might remind many of you of a room in Grandma's house, it's comforting to know you can find this Quilter's Dream in downtown Antioch at 388 Lake St.

Wendy and Robin, lifetime Antioch residents, are sharing with us their love for quilting. Stepping into their shop, steps you back in time to when quilting was done for necessity and for the love of quilting. Quilts adorn the walls, bolts of fabric fill the shelves, and sewing machines stand ready to quilt.

Quilter's Dream offers a diverse class schedule designed to fit the needs of a variety of talent and interest. Whether you are an avid quilter, or draw blood every time you pick up a needle, Quilter's Dream offers classes for everyone. They even offer a class titled, "Finishing Those Projects," that you've started long ago (I'm sure several of us qualify for that one). Children are included in their "Kids Class," which introduces children ages nine to 14 to the basics—how to operate a sewing machine, use a rotary cutter and mat, and some basic terms and hand quilting. The kids finish the two-session class with a small, nine-patch quilt. Everything they need is included in the class fee.

Quilter's Dream limits their class size to four people to a session. This small class size allows them to work closely with each person, instructing, working with detail and enjoying the joys of quilting. When most of us think of quilting, we might envision a patchwork quilt. At Quilter's Dream, they offer far more than a patchwork quilt. You'll find classes in Alpha/Omega (okay, you Star Trek fans, I'm talking quilts here—not the next generation), Beginning Hand Piecing, Snail's Tail, A Step Back In Time, Machine Appliqué Techniques and Spring Dreams Mini Quilt.

(At last count, I found 19 different types of classes offered). Longtime local resident Jan Wilke has joined their teaching staff and will be specializing in appliqué techniques and clothing items.

National Quilting Day is March 18. Quilter's Dream will be celebrating all day long with in-store specials. Stop by and enjoy some cookies and punch and join the fun. Each month, on the fourth Saturday, you can join them for a new Block of the Month. During 1995, they'll be using all "stars" for this, and at the end of the year they will have a contest for the best use of the 12 blocks. Then the finished quilt contest will be in March 1996 on National Quilting Day.

Another service offered is a repair clinic by Dr. Mike. Simply drop off your machine and he will cure its ailments. He'll also make house calls for larger machine in cabinets. Simply call for an appointment, or just drop your machine off.

Quilting, piecing, cutting, patterns, appliqué. If these terms grab your attention and make you want to grab your needle, then Quilter's Dream is a must for you. But if you read this and think, "If only I knew how," you should stop by to visit and learn how they can teach you to enjoy the art of quilting.

If you love to quilt, but hate to piece, or love to piece, but hate to cut, or simply don't have the time or patience to cut and piece, call Quilter's Dream and let them do it for you. You pick out the pattern and fabrics and they will cut and/or piece for you.

Next time you're downtown, stop in and say welcome to Wendy and Robin. While you're there, take a moment to enjoy the art of quilting that's on display. Quilting enthusiasts and browsers are always welcome to share their dream.

Lt. Governor Kustra calls for educational partnerships

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

It is getting more and more difficult to find good people in workplaces where a college degree is not now needed.

Those words are the assertion of Lt. Governor Bob Kustra, the keynote speaker at the Lake County Economic Development Commission's 1995 Educational Summit held at Kemper corporate headquarters in Long Grove Tuesday morning.

"We are trying to find a way to prepare workers for what they are going to face in the workplace," said Kustra, addressing a full house of educators and business people in a Kemper auditorium.

Kustra said that goal is not currently being achieved by educators. The main focus for high school at this point in time is to incubate students until they go into college. What that process leaves out is the remaining 75 percent of the public who do not attend institutions of higher learning.

Kustra indicated students who are educated in vocational methods have come to be considered as second class citizens and that societal viewpoint must end. Parents expect their children to better themselves and for many years the unspoken thought is that goal can be typically achieved by attending college.

The task of the state is to help private industry and educational forces to come together as a means to better educate all students to exist in the real world directly out of high school. But the task does not come without road blocks.

"Becoming part of a team and shedding some individualism is difficult. Our training beginning in the classroom is to compete and succeed individually," Kustra explained.

He said society and especially parents reward individual achievement. Though this is not a completely bad thing for parents to do, it does have a flaw in promoting individualism in the workplace even at times when team orientation is required.

Then, there are the shortfalls of educators themselves. Kustra said schools are more and more becoming professional enclaves for educators to gather. He said counselors are not immune to this charge. They are not equipped with the right answers about the real world of business and need to rethink their duties. He used an example from when his children attended Glenbrook South High School.

"I used to come in once a quarter to talk about civics. Most of the people teaching civics didn't have the foggiest idea what I was talking about," Kustra said.

On the other side, business needs to be prepared to work toward the goal as well. Understandably, businesses do not exist primarily to educate people. Conventional thought says that job is left to schools. The basic breakdown Kustra illustrated is schools are not doing well enough to educate people for business.

Family dedicates building to ALS victim

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

Thomas Idstein always believed in saving until he could pay for things in cash. He scrimped, saved and especially worked hard so he would not owe anything to anyone.

While living in handicapped apartments on Allen St. dedicated in his honor, he purchased a lot on Second St. in Grayslake with the hope of building a handicapped-accessible log cabin that could one day be his final home.

Idstein never saw that dream come true. On what would be his 42nd birthday March 18, the log cabin now standing at 526 Second St. will be dedicated in honor of his memory.

The story of Thomas Idstein is one of love for people, of commitment to be the best he could be and one of bittersweet joy mixed with sadness. His work ethic began as a small child when he delivered the newspaper.

Even then, Idstein seemed to have a magnetic quality in attracting friendships. One customer on his route left a note on the door, telling him the door was unlocked and for him to come in and warm his feet on a frigid winter day, even though the family was not home.

Through the years, Idstein worked all the jobs he could find, again with the idea of buying instead of borrowing. As a teenager in the late 1960s he worked for John Epstein, owner of Grayslake Gelatin, replacing all the fence posts along Washington St. at Haryan Farms. The property he eventually bought on Second St. backs up to 15 wooded acres in the Haryan Farms subdivision.

When he graduated from St. Gilbert's in 1967 and went on to Grayslake High School, he was a successful athlete in three sports, winning awards in baseball, basketball and football. In football, he played on a conference championship team.

After graduating in 1971, he intended to continue his football success at Millikan University with an athletic scholarship, but his knees began hurting so bad it was difficult to walk sometimes.

Idstein came back home after that year and began studying as a journeyman electrician with the Local 150 in Waukegan. He was also active as a diver and, after four years of study, he had a job possibility in San Diego as a police diver.

His fiancé had just graduated from nursing school in Arizona and they would make a life together in the beautiful sun out west. He decided to take a relaxing journey in his van to visit his brother in Idaho, sister and grandmother in San Jose, then swing through Arizona to start his life of happiness and wedded bliss. But fate had different plans for Idstein.

On his first leg of the trip, with walls of snow mounted on each side of the road, a man hit his van, badly damaging one side. That night, while waiting for his van to be repaired, he called his mother with a curious question.

Teens take $20,000 in Island Lake theft

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

Four people from different parts of the county have been arrested, and one is still being sought in connection with a home burglary in which $20,000 worth of valuables were stolen. A 20-year old Island Lake woman, whose parents were vacationing in Florida, decided to have a party Feb. 14 which lasted until the late morning hours of the following day, according to Island Lake Police Chief Eugene Bach.

Police weren't aware of a theft at the home, until the parents of the woman returned home Feb. 19 and discovered items missing from the master bedroom at their home in the 2900 block of Kingston.

Among the items taken were a home safe with paperwork including wills, property deeds, etc.; a .22 caliber revolver and a .25 caliber automatic-type gun; credit cards; and assorted jewelry. Reports valued items missing from the house around $20,000.

Island Lake Officer Paul Jamil began the initial investigation which led to the arrest of 17-year-old Eric C. Romanski of Wauconda; Brian J. Condon, 19, of Antioch; and Dawn M. Palucci, 17, of Lake Zurich. All three were charged with felony theft and were being held on bonds of $40,000.

The arrests took place over the past week according to Bach. Another suspect, Andrew J. Pikulski, 18, is still being sought and will be charged with misdemeanor theft. Wauconda and Lake County police assisted in two of the arrests. Lake County Sheriffs now have in their possession one of the stolen guns, the .25 caliber automatic handgun was found later on the lawn of an unincorporated Antioch home.

Some of the other items have also been located, said police.

Police report that Condon first put the house safe into Romanski's father's red Ford Probe; drove it to one of the suspects' homes, unloaded it and placed it into a red Geo Metro belonging to Palucci who then drove it to Antioch.

Chief Bach said one of the suspects opened the safe with a pry-bar type tool, in which it was emptied, and then it was later dumped into five feet of water in the Chain O' Lakes under the Grass Lake Bridge.

Wauconda and Antioch fire department divers are planning to remove the empty safe, said Bach.

The chief praised several of his officers for their work in the case, including Jamil, Peter Gatchman, and James Green.

The suspects are now awaiting trial in Lake County.

"He asked me if I had muscle tics when my sciatic nerve flared up," she said.

He was having muscle tics all over his chest and could not control them. He had also been tripping, though he did not disclose that fact on the phone. He dismissed the tics as a possible sciatic problem and told his mother not to worry.

He neglected to tell his mother then just how frightened he truly was.

After a short visit in San Jose, he made the jaunt to Arizona to visit with his bride-to-be. In the meantime, his sister reported to Mary that Tom held his fork strangely during meals and he did not look well. The family concerns were mounting.

His fiancé could not go out with him that first night so a friend took him out on the town. That evening, the friend told him something the fiancé could not bear to say herself. She had fallen in love with another man at school and first hospital, Tom had trouble walking properly. When he began to answer the nurse at the desk, his speech came out garbled.

"He was mortified he could not speak properly. They wanted to admit him for drug treatment," Mary said.

Knowing he wasn't on drugs, his sister-in-law took him to the county hospital, which happened to be a teaching hospital specializing in neurological disorders. Always independent, Tom wanted to go home after the initial examination. The doctor said he would pay for the stay if he was wrong about the affliction. Sadly, he was right.

In the same breath, Tom was given both an answer to his malady and a cruel death sentence. He had amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS), a degenerative disease affecting the motor neurons that carry impulses from the brain to the muscles. He would lose strength in his extremities which would progress to his upper body. He would gradually lose his ability to speak, swallow and breathe and in five years, at the age of thirty, he would be dead.

"At first he did the usual thing, asking 'why me?' But after six months, he was past all that. He grabbed onto every moment he could," said Jack Idstein, Tom's father.

Tom moved into handicapped apartments at Allen and Lake Streets, which were later named after him. He would often sit out front, waving at all the acquaintances driving by.

His home care was provided mostly by his mother, with other family members chipping in. One day, Mary had to be out of town and could not care for Tom. It was only then she finally asked for help. She enlisted the aid of Dorothy Guldán, who had created Helping Hands out of St. Gilbert's Parish.

People from Helping Hands began to volunteer to help him. Several of them said they got more out of seeing him than he did. Mary was overwhelmed by the outpouring of support.

"I almost had to make an appointment to see him. That's how nice he was. He was a wonderful man," she said with a smile.

By Thanksgiving of 1987, Tom had lived nearly 10 years since his diagnosis but knew things were quickly changing. Since it was difficult for him to speak, he wrote a letter to his four brothers, two sisters and parents, asking them to deal with him honestly as they would anyone else and to not be sad about his life or condition.

"Before this gets too long, I just want to say I do feel lucky. I would not have the quality of life I have without you. We are lucky to be where we are in life, largely due to mom and dad. They have given us a lot. Let us be thankful for them and all our fortunes and friends," he finished.

Over the next 10 months, Tom continued to touch the lives of people he came in contact with. By October, the disease had robbed him of nearly all his muscle control. He had to be hospitalized because his lungs could no longer function without the aid of a tracheotomy tube. Though he did not say it out loud, he knew the end was coming soon so he began to contact his friends. On Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, he asked for a living will.

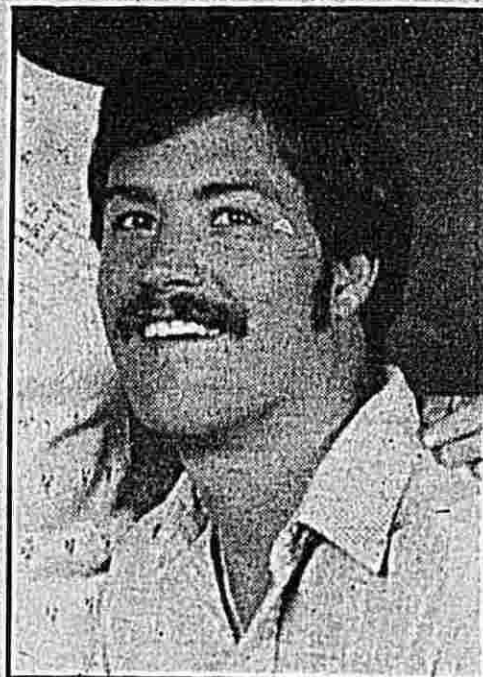

He made a request for his doctor to remove the trachea tube. The nurses warned it would never happen because it was so controversial at the time. But Mary knew Dr. William Dam would understand her son's request and abide by it.

"He was a great comforter and treated Tom like his own son," she said of Dr. Dam.

On Saturday, Tom called all his closest friends and family into his hospital room so they could spend his last moments together. The air was not one of sadness, but of love and joy for the life they had shared with their stricken friend. He had given all his friends at least one of his possessions until everything was gone. With his strength waning and the trachea tube in place, he could only speak to them by indicating to letters on an alphabet board with his eye movements.

When it was time to remove the life support, he called all of his friends in the room with the help of his mother.

"Whoever is here, would they

please come back in because I've never done this before," he told them.

After the tube was removed, the nurses said death would come in 20 minutes. Amidst the songs of Neil Diamond, Bruce Springsteen and comments like 'when will the pizza get here,' Tom lived for over two hours, smiling and winking the whole time. The emotion of those gathered was not to mourn their collective loss, but instead to celebrate the life of someone who given them all so much.

As his mother described the last moments of her son's life, a smile crossed her lips. She could see him declining, as he closed his eyes. Everybody in the room became quiet and began their words of encouragement with 'good bye, Tom' and 'we love you, Tom.'

Though he could only turn his head to the left up to that point, he opened his eyes and lifted his head. Mary described his countenance as beautiful. He turned his head to the right and spoke clearly.

"Mary fixed me," he said. Then he looked down to see the trachea tube was disconnected and asked, "How come I'm still breathing?"

"Then he just shut his eyes and he was gone," his mother said.

On March 18, the family will be dedicating the house with Father Beaven of St. Gilbert's. After the dedication, on a date yet to be set, Jack and Mary Idstein will hold an open house, asking all the friends of Thomas Idstein to stop in and say 'hello.'

Standing inside her son's dream home, Mary Idstein of Grayslake looks at a photo collage of her son while recounting his last moments of life. Built after his death to ALS, the log cabin will be dedicated March 18 in the memory of Thomas Idstein.—Photo by Todd F. Helsler

After he arrived to see his brother, it was John who called their mother.

"He was teasing Tom because he could not carry five-gallon buckets of water to the cabin," Mary said, "He kept dropping them."

The symptoms came and went with no apparent cause. Tom thought it was the frigid temperatures, lack of sleep and constant activity. The warm weather would surely improve his health.

When he arrived in San Francisco, he stopped at a drug store to call for directions to nearby San Jose. When he came out five minutes later, all his personal belongings, including his diving gear, were stolen.

would not marry Tom.

Heartbroken that his life had taken such a drastic turn, Tom decided to lift his head high and visit his brother, Ken, in Long Beach before making the long trek back to Grayslake. Ken was in the process of moving and welcomed added help.

One day, Ken's wife at the time made a frantic phone call to him. Tom could not carry boxes or even tie his shoes. He had even fallen at one point and could not get off the floor for some time. She knew something was seriously wrong. She urged Tom to go to the doctor and he finally relented. His problem had been diagnosed in Arizona as 'stress and nerves.'

percent of his workforce does not have basic literacy skills. The challenge remains to get people up to snuff after they enter the workplace," Kustra said.

See KUSTRA page Not to be forgotten on the list for change is the worker. When Kustra asked one industry owner what were the problems of today's worker, he was told to read the 'Monster Under the Bed.'

That story is a whimsical account of a 5-year-old girl named Meagan who was having nightmares about a monster under her bed. Her parents said she should talk out the problem, even advising her to get on the computer and draw the beast so she could identify the enemy and therefore no longer be frightened by the unknown.

Meagan embraced the task and succeeded in ridding her sleep of the nightmares. The lesson of the story is Meagan faced her fears head on by using ingenuity and technology and even ended up moving the problem completely out of her own realm. She moved the monster to under her brother's bed.

"Adults and children are going to learn, whether business and education come along or not," Kustra said.

For the state's role in the educational change, it is currently employing a public relations campaign through the media to help bring about the required change. Fiber optic and other technology will be bolstered by $75 million dollars the state has pledged. The infusion of technology will enhance the ability for interactive video to help educate people in more rural areas who do not have the advantage of industry growth such as Lake County does.

Also, Edgar intends to stimulate private industry to become more involved in the education process by offering tax incentives. Up to $28 million is proposed as part of the fiscal year 1996 state budget, the bulk of which is earmarked for teacher retraining for technology.

A task force of labor, education and business representatives has been formed to further study the issue, then make recommendations for changes.

"We are not advocating terminal education after high school, but instead a seamless web of learning," Kustra said.

Police confirm victims' identity

The Lake County Sheriff's Department has confirmed the identity of the woman whose legs were found in Newport Township as Stacey A. Frobél, 24, of Carol Stream.

Frobél had been missing since Jan. 4. She was last seen leaving a friend's apartment in Streamwood at approximately 12:45 a.m. At the time of her disappearance she was wearing blue jeans with possibly a rip in one of the knees, a brown jacket and white high-top tennis shoes. Her 1984 white Renault car was found later in the parking lot of an apartment complex in Hanover Park Feb. 10.

Frobél is survived by her husband, Jeffrey, and a son. Susan Eblery, Frobél's mother, has custody of Frobél's 5-year-old son.

According to police, Frobél was previously married and had lived in the Homestead area of Florida. Her first husband preceded her in death.

Lake County Sheriff's Department is in charge of the case since Frobél's severed legs were discovered in Lake County. To date, no additional body parts have been found.

The Lake County aspect of the case began on Jan. 16 when a family pet brought home a portion of Frobél's severed right leg. On Jan. 21, the same dog brought home the left leg. Police were able to determine both legs belonged to the same body.

Due to the limited amount of physical evidence available the only feasible means of identifying the possible victim appeared to be DNA profiling. Lake County received a report from the Illinois State Police Research and Development Laboratory in Springfield confirming Frobél's identity, Feb. 28.

Police are asking anyone with information in regards to Frobél or her possible whereabouts between Jan. 4 and Jan. 16 to contact the Lake County Sheriff's Police Criminal Investigation's Division at 360-5850. Anonymous information may be forward through CrimeStoppers at 662-2222.

AT A GLANCE

Road boss upset with County

WEST MILTMORE—Lake Villa Township Highway Commissioner Jim Semmerling is upset with the Lake County Forest Preserve because he hasn't received approval to allow a drainage project in West Miltmore to drain in the Duck Farm Forest Preserve.

Semmerling said the water is flowing in the same direction now. He said homeowners are being unfairly punished because the County won't allow him to continue. In a letter to Semmerling, Forest Preserve staff told him he needs to provide documents which show he has a permit from The Army Corps of Engineers and Lake County Stormwater Management Commission before the project can go through the appropriate Forest Preserve Committees.

Board seeks opinions on park

GURNEE—Gurnee residents living in the Estes Street, University Avenue and Woodlawn Avenue areas will be able to give input for a park site at a March 14 meeting. Some residents wish the 8.6 acre area will remain as is. The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. at Gurnee Village Hall.

JEPF Gala benefits schools

JOHNSBURG—The second annual Black Tie Gala for the Johnsburg Educational Partnership Foundation will take place Saturday evening, March 11, at the McHenry Country Club on 820 N. John St. in McHenry. Cocktails are at 6 p.m., and dinner is at 7 p.m. There will be dancing between 8 and 8:30 p.m. A silent auction will highlight the event. Music for dancing will be provided by "Stax-o-Wax." All proceeds from the Gala will go towards enriching the education of students in the Johnsburg School District; including helping with the purchase of computers. Last year, over $7,000 was raised for the schools. Tickets are $65 each, and are available by calling Chairperson Berne Clary at (708) 587-3200, or Vice-Chairperson Kelly Kennedy at (815) 344-4585.

Cuneo gets preliminary OK

VERNON HILLS—Vernon Hills trustees gave their preliminary approval to Gregg's Landing, a 2,100-unit housing development planned for the former John F. Cuneo Estate. Forty-five percent of the 1,100-acre golf course community will consist of open space. Trustees were able to reduce the density from 2,200 units to 2,100 units. Original plans called for 3,200 units.

LHS students arrested

LIBERTYVILLE—Six Libertyville High School students were arrested on drug charges following an investigation, which began when a teacher noticed two students exchanging a small amount of cannabis on school grounds. High school officials will meet to discuss the possibility of those students being expelled or suspended from the school. The investigation began Feb. 24 and ended March 3 with the arrests.

Novak 'no' on unit district

GRAYSLAKE—Unless new information comes forth to change the asset distribution anticipated from Grayslake High School District 127 to the possible Lake Villa Unit School District, Superintendent Ray Novak is advising voters in the school district to vote 'no' on the formation of the district. If the district is approved at the April ballot box by voters in all school districts affected by the formation of a Lake Villa unit district, Grayslake High School District 127 would owe $6.1 million to the new district in asset distribution. Even if the number is closer to Novak's 'fair' estimate of $2.5 million, Grayslake High School would still need to pursue a referendum to write out the check and Novak doesn't believe that option will fly with taxpayers.

Chamber, Lakeland host expo

WAUCONDA—Lakeland Publishing and the Wauconda Chamber of Commerce are sponsoring the Chamber's Second Annual Home and Business Expo this weekend at Wauconda High School, 555 N. Main St.

Around 60 local merchants and organizations will be featured at the expo, taking place from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. March 11 and 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. March 12. A number of Wauconda restaurants will be selling tasty treats, and a wide variety of family entertainment will be provided both days. There is no general admission charge to attend.

Theater expansion denied

LAKE ZURICH—A plan to expand Lake Zurich Theaters to 13 screens and make it the largest cinema in Lake County was turned down by the Village Plan Commission, an advisory group to the Village Board of Trustees. Among the main concerns was the lack of a traffic signal at the theater entrance on Route 12. Theater officials have attempted to get approval from the Illinois Department of Transportation for the signal since 1990, when the theater was first proposed. The Plan Commission stated increasing the parking lot to accommodate the additional customers would increase the congestion at the entrance. Theater officials plan to regroup before coming back to the village for another try.

No figures for district impact

ANTIOCH—The unknowns regarding the impact of the proposed Lake Villa unit district may be greater than the knowns, at least for the Antioch Community High School Board of Education. Audience members were left shaking their heads as they attempted to understand the information they had just received. The biggest aspect of the problem is the division of assets. ACHS Business Manager Bill Ahlers provided a detailed sheet regarding the impact without including the division of assets. If the unit proposal is approved by voters, ACHS will be left owing some assets and money to the new district. Unfortunately, no one seems to know exactly how much will be owed.

SWALCO proposal tabled

MUNDELEIN—Mundelein's Village Board was not the only village that had a few problems and concerns with the rules and regulations that the SWALCO agency proposed for the new waste management agency in Libertyville. Mundelein's Board did not feel that they had ample time to look over the 100 plus page proposal before they were to vote.

Kenosha Co. still searching to ID victim

The Kenosha Co. Sheriff's Dept. is still attempting to identify the burned remains of a white male homicide victim that was located in a wooded area near the Wisconsin, Illinois border on 10-24-94. The victim was located northeast of Antioch, just north of the border. The victim is described as a white male, 29 to 31 years of age, 5'5" to 5'8", 135 to 150 pounds. He had a Fu Man Chu mustache, which extended into a goatee, and brown collar-length hair. The victim was in dire need of dental work and had numerous teeth missing.

At the time of death, the victim was wearing a black T-shirt with an unknown design on the front, black denim jeans (female, size 10), a blue denim jacket, white socks and white Reebok athletic shoes. The victim was also wearing two rings and a gold necklace. Found on the victim were a pair of prescription sunglasses. After examination, it was determined the glasses were for a near-sighted person. The eyeglasses were silver framed, with plastic lenses.

Since locating this victim, the sheriff's department detective bureau has followed up more than 150 leads without being able to identify this individual. The Kenosha Co. Sheriff's Dept. is reaching out to the community and surrounding area in an attempt to identify this person.

Anyone with information about this unidentified homicide victim is urged to call the Kenosha Co. Sheriff's Dept. at (414) 656-7304 or the Crime Stopper line at (414) 656-7333. Although identification of the caller is helpful, requests to remain anonymous will be respected.

Reconsider decision

Gov. Jim Edgar's proposed budget unveiled last week falls short in its efforts toward mental health with its proposal to close the Ann M. Kiley Developmental Center in Waukegan.

The center is home to 420 adult patients. Edgar's plans call for the center to be closed over a two year period and for the patients to be phased into community care programs.

Experts say community care centers are a better option for most people with mental problems. Community care facilities are privately operated and can include inpatient or outpatient treatment or group homes. The key to making the facilities successful, however, is the availability of funding.

Edgar's initial proposal lacks information in how additional community programs will be funded and staffed. Mental Health, a small portion of the state budget, often suffers when across the board budget cuts are deemed necessary.

It is always difficult to make budget decisions which involve the quality of life of individuals. In this case, Edgar should reexamine the displacement of Kiley Center residents before making a final decision on the case.

Build brighter futures

Camp Hastings Lake YMCA in Lake Villa has been an integral part of the Lake County community for many years.

The YMCA's mission is to support the physical, mental and spiritual well-being of individuals and their families in order to improve their quality of life. The organization is committed to serving all members of the community even those who cannot afford the various programs.

Scholarships are offered for many families to allow children the opportunity to participate in resident camp, daycamp, after school care, aquatics, horsemanship and membership.

The holidays are traditionally the charitable season but with summer around the corner, giving children the opportunity to benefit from the YMCA's world renown programs is a rewarding way to greet spring.

Donations can be sent to Camp Hastings Lake YMCA, 21155 W. Gelden Road in Lake Villa. For more information call 356-4001.

Each donation is a step toward building a brighter future for the lives of hundreds of children in our area.

Time for deregulation of Japan's economy

Rep. Phil Crane (R-8th) is leading the call on Capitol Hill for sweeping deregulation of the Japanese economy to help U.S. exports and workers.

As Chairman of the House Ways and Means Subcommittee on Trade, Crane, and fellow Republicans, believe protectionism in Japan is a damaging force to both the Japanese consumer and the American exporter.

The Japanese government is expected to release a deregulation proposal which would facilitate U.S. exports in late March. GOP leaders are calling on the Japanese government to remove visible regulations impeding U.S. exports as soon as possible to provide immediate benefits to U.S. workers and relief to Japanese consumers. They are also calling for the Japanese deregulation plan to begin attacking the high costs of foreign direct investment in Japan.

The high cost of doing business in Japan has been identified repeatedly in surveys of the foreign business community conducted by the American Chamber of Commerce in Japan as the number one barrier inhibiting greater U.S. sales and investment in Japan.

Foreign companies account for only around 1.1 percent of all sales and 2 percent of all investment in the Japanese economy. In contrast, foreign corporations accounted for more than 17 percent of sales and 20 percent of investments in the United States.

The time is at hand to improve trade relationships and reduce the trade deficit between these two world economic leaders. The move will ease tensions and strengthen the U.S.-Japan alliance which is vital to maintaining peace and security in Asia.

Viewpoint Onerous business tax should be eliminated

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

There's a nifty way to stimulate the economy and create a flock of new jobs. Increase the present inheritance tax exemption or even better, completely do away with federal inheritance taxes.

The Institute for Research on the Economics of Taxation did a study showing that elimination of inheritance taxes would provide a hefty stimulus to the U.S. economy. Try a benefit to small business of 228,000 new jobs plus an addition of $79 billion in economic growth by the year 2000. Kind of gets your attention, doesn't it?

Taxing estates heavily grew out of the notion that it's an easy way for the government to get more revenue. The departed ones paying the tax won't be around to complain. Besides, their kids are getting something, aren't they?

The heavy-handed method of redistributing wealth, however, put a crimp on one of the most vital, productive parts of the economy, small business, when it comes to job creation and availability of investment capital.

In reality, when the government picks the pockets of dead people, the tax revenue produced is small compared to other sources. Thousands of lawyers and accountants, however, have gotten rich helping families preserve their savings and pave the way for the next generation to carry on worthwhile business enterprises.

In their "Contract With America," Republicans want to increase the present inheritance tax exemption from $600,000 to $750,000. Pretty modest, really, considering that one Congressman from Louisiana wants to double the exemption to $1.2 million and Rep. Chris Cox, a California Republican, wants to completely repeal the federal confiscation from the grave with a measure known as the Family Heritage Preservation Act.

It's interesting to note that Democrats, before they were so unceremoniously slapped down last Nov. 8, were floating a plan to reduce the $600,000 exemption

Considering that owners of small businesses typically have personal residences worth $200,000 or more, many founders of successful businesses were faced with the real possibility of giving their stores or companies to the government upon their death to pay for taxes.

This is America? No, and thank heaven the new Republican majority agrees that the inheritance tax is unfair and confiscatory.

In the overall scheme, our nation would never miss the income from inheritance taxes, but everyone sure would benefit from the creation of more jobs and advantages of economic growth produced by stronger small businesses.

Lawsuit reform: The time has come

ALAN M. ROMAN, M.D.

The time has come for a reasoned, measured response to curb some of the more grotesque lawsuit abuses which raise taxes and prices for everyone, especially those who need medical care. The doctors of Illinois are asking our General Assembly to pass much needed reforms of the civil justice system.

Lawsuit abuse happens because the legal system has blurred the distinction between a lawsuit and a lottery ticket. Big awards—like the infamous McDonald's hot coffee verdict or the case where $1.5 million was presented after a drunk wandered onto Chicago Transit Authority tracks and electrocuted himself by urinating on the third rail—generate even more suits in the hope of capturing another prize.

Look at lawsuits that allege medical malpractice, for example. Eight out of every 10 of the malpractice claims made against doctors in Illinois prove groundless, and end up with no payment to a patient of any kind. Yet the cost of defending against these mostly spurious claims has more than doubled.

Worse, the oppressive liability lawsuit climate forces doctors to protect themselves through the practice of defensive medicine—tests and procedures performed not because the patient needs them but because the doctor needs them to assure a strong defense in case the patient sues. A study found that defensive medicine adds $25 billion to America's doctors' bills each year. That means, in Illinois a family of four pays $435 a year for See COMMENTARY page B5

Medical laws need review

Editor:

The present Illinois law that concerns the ordering of certain mentally ill patients to take prescribed drugs is clearly unacceptable. After the court order, the institution that holds them releases the patients into society with instructions to continue treatment through medication.

In essence the law can be dangerous to society and to the individual involved. Although the opposing argument states that the individual can lead a more productive life if released into society on such terms, "research shows that many people with mental illness stop taking medication because of unpleasant side affects," as noted by Dr. Jerry Dincin, the Executive Director of Thresholds, the largest psychiatric agency in Illinois. A patient who misses medication, intentionally or not, would most likely become a danger to themselves and to others around them.

Perhaps what should be done in this case is to have a time in which the doctor and a state employed psychiatrist examine the patient who may be subject to ordered medication. Both expert and doctor must agree on the diagnosis before the court can force a chemical treatment on a patient.

Even if this is done, however, more observations must be allotted in order for the doctor to make a recommendation as to whether a patient should be released safely into the community. He should demonstrate certain abilities that he will need in the public society. If and when the patient is released from the institution, he should be under supervision. In time, if he demonstrates an assimilation, he can be released from the hospital permanently with several visits to his psychiatrist per year.

The present law about mental patients and medication is clearly dangerous; it poses a threat to everyone involved. The law itself must be reviewed thoroughly and changed. The U.S. Supreme Court is scheduled to examine it soon and if the Court understands the unsatisfactory measures, the state of Illinois can become a safer community of people in which to live.

PARTY LINES

Legislators disagree with closing of Kiley Center

Lake County legislators are up in arms over Gov. Jim Edgar's 1996 proposed budget which includes plans to close the Ann M. Kiley Development Center in Waukegan.

State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) is strongly opposed to the plan.

"Overall I think that the Governor's spending plan is a good one. I especially agree with the increase in education funding. However, I strongly oppose his plan to close Lake County's premiere mental health facility," said Geo-Karis.

The center employs about 640 mental health workers and houses about 420 patients. It is the only significant state mental health facility in Lake County—the third largest county in the state.

The Governor's proposal calls for facility to be closed over a two-year period and for the patients to be phased into community care programs.

"The community care programs can't even handle the homeless, so you can well-imagine how difficult it would be for those programs to deal with the patients from the Kiley Center," Geo-Karis said. "By closing this facility, the Governor will be throwing these patients out of their home."

Both state Sen. William Peterson and House Majority Leader Robert Churchill agree the Kiley Development Center is needed and should stay in operation.

Geo-Karis says the Lake County lawmakers are preparing to approach the governor with a plan to retain the facility.

Party Lines hopes due consideration will be given to the fate of these individuals and the shortage of programs to accommodate this group in the county.

Yorkhouse Rd. billboard—

Opponents to the extension of Yorkhouse Road through the nationally acclaimed Wetlands Demonstration Project have gathered their resources to take out a billboard on I-94. Motorists driving southbound on the tollway can see the billboard just north of Rte. 176 before Lamb's Farm. Those who wish to voice their opposition to the extension can call 1-800-No Road-9 or 1-800-667-6239.

Flag burning—Rep. Phil Crane (R-8th) is co-sponsoring a constitutional amendment to protect the flag of the United States from physical desecration. Crane is one of 186 members of Congress—157 representatives and 29 senators—to cosponsor the constitutional amendment. Over 80 other members of Congress have indicated they will also co-sponsor the legislation. Crane says 46 states have passed resolutions urging a constitutional amendment to ban flag desecration.

Dole visits—

Republican presidential contender and Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole visited the Chicago area March 6 as keynote speaker for the Illinois Republican Party dinner. Press information came on official "Bob Dole for President" letter head. Seems the race is on.

Public disappointed—

United We Stand America (USWA) Executive Director Russell J. Verney says Congress' failure to pass the balanced budget amendment breaks faith with the American people. The organization says 80 percent of Americans are disappointed in the decision.

Hoops fans: When Sidney Mathias,

Buffalo Grove mayor, presented Stevenson High with its village signs proclaiming it as the home of Class AA state girls basketball champions, he mentioned what he would put on next year's signs for the repeat. The team, which finished the season at 33-2, romped through the state title series. Party Lines offers its congratulations to Coach Frank Mattucci and his talented squad.

State Sen. Bill Peterson (R-Long Grove) was on hand for the welcome home ceremony as was David Stolman, Lake County Board member.

Buffalo Grove, whose Bison also made the Elite Eight, comprises about half of the Stevenson's student enrollment.

Stolman Eight, comprises about half of the Stevenson's student enrollment.

In the trenches—Those in upper ranks of the Mundelein Police Department are not exempt from working the streets. During the traffic snarls caused by Tuesday's winter weather, Commander Rich Beese was out on Route 83 directing traffic around the scene of an accident near Route 176.

The grass is always greener—

Lake Zurich officials wondered why Wauconda, a village less than half its size in population, has never had the problems they have experienced concerning sewers, public works facilities and police facilities. The reason—"They plan for it," said Lake Zurich Trustee Laurence B. Coffey. Lake Zurich is currently undergoing a series of public works committee meetings planning for a consolidated public works facility that will cost an estimated $2.9 million in total construction and engineering fees. A proposal calls for housing only 30 of the village's 56 public works vehicles in a heated garage, while Wauconda has a larger facility and houses all 26 of its vehicles inside. Coffey also mentioned Wauconda planned to have its growth pay for the facilities, instead of building them after the growth occurred, as Lake Zurich has done.

Sewer work—

Eagle Point Subdivision residents were temporarily sidetracked Tuesday when the Fox Lake Sewer and Water Department repaired an old clay pipe under the streets between Arlington and Covington. "It's a little inconvenience," said Police Chief James Busch, "but it's gotta be done." The pipe is reported as being between 20 and 30 years old, and needed to be repaired since it was "crushed." "Hopefully it will only take a day," said Superintendent of the Fox Lake Sewer and Water Department, Rich Leber. On Tuesday, the chief said the residents will have to go around to Lake Lane which goes into Covington, and then they can drive around the construction. Three homes will have their driveways blocked by the work, and they will be allowed to park on the street, said the chief.

First step—

State Representative Al Salvi is well aware the newly adopted school waiver law falls short of eliminating unnecessary state mandates cast upon Illinois schools by legislators. In his mind, the bill is an important first step to reducing paperwork and expense incurred by schools because of the crush of mandates passed down from Springfield. "We have to win a public relations battle and this is an important first step. The purpose of the bill is to make a point. There are too many mandates on our schools," he said.

Business of educating—

Lt. Governor Bob Kustra has been stumping around the state in favor of the governor's plan to join private industry, labor and educators in an effort to better educate students and citizens for life in the "real world" workplace. For starters, up to $28 million is expected to be set aside in fiscal year 1996 for various forms of technical training for educators. "We need to find ways to partner business and school in order to connect learning with earning," Kustra said.

Commentary

unnecessary tests and procedures.

Since 1986, the number of claims of malpractice against doctors in Illinois has more than doubled. Over half of the doctors in our state report having been sued at some point in their careers. No wonder doctors feel the need to protect themselves through defensive medical practices.

But the cost of lawsuit abuse is more than financial. It costs many of our neighbors in urban and rural areas their access to health care altogether. In Chicago, 26 of the 77 neighborhoods are designated by the federal government as having a shortage of doctors. Sixteen counties in the southern part of our state have no appropriate facilities for delivering babies. The high cost of malpractice liability has driven doctors and facilities out of these areas.

Both the lieutenant governor's Rural Health Task Force of 1990 and the Special Joint Task Force on Family Physician Shortages, which reported to the legislature last December, recommended lawsuit reform, specifically a limit on non-economic damage awards.

Sadly, some people are truly injured by medical negligence and deserve compensation. But the legal system as it now exists, choked with unfounded litigation, is horribly inconsistent at gaining compensation for the truly injured. Awards for different patients with similar injuries can vary widely. A man who simply needed corrective eyeglasses after sinus surgery won $1.1 million—all for non-economic, "pain and suffering"-type reasons—while a woman who lost an eye after cataract surgery was awarded just $6,500, with just $4,300 for her non-economic loss.

The lawsuit system is inefficient as well. Even legitimate cases can take years to resolve, raising legal costs. A 1992 study found that the U.S. pays four times more to support its legal liability system than does any of the other developed nations competing against us in the global marketplace. In Illinois, the average award payment in a malpractice case has doubled since 1986.

Who pays for defensive medicine, the cost of defending frivolous litigation, the loss of access to medical care and the inefficiency of our legal system? Every single citizen. That's why 21 other states have already passed lawsuit reforms.

The challenge to our new General Assembly is to develop legal reforms for Illinois which protect appropriate compensation for the truly injured, but squeeze out the incentives to play the costly lawsuit lottery.

Doctors ask our legislators to meet the challenge by protecting the truly injured patient's right to full recovery of every penny of their tangible, quantifiable economic losses—the compensation for lost wages, lifelong medical expenses due to the injury, and the cost of services and equipment needed to overcome the injury.

And we need legislators to take the further step of instituting a fair, but reasonable limit on intangible, non-economic awards for amorphous reasons like "pain and suffering," which cannot be quantified and which cause overall awards to spiral upwards at everyone's expense.

This solution requires no expensive bureaucracy, no imposition of fines and no red tape—just fairness and common sense. The time has come for lawsuit reform.

throughout the state practicing in all specialties. Dr. Roman is a surgeon from Flossmoor.

To the surprise of many readers of print, the resurrection of the A-bomb stamp is being reported in numerous city newspapers. Unlike many of the nation's newspapers who have refused to cover this story due to its political incorrectness, the Chicago Tribune is to be commended for a rare case of objective reporting. Now that word has spread about the availability of the A-bomb stamp, it appears that the commemorative stamp is enjoying a newfound popularity among mainstream America. This, no doubt, is more bad news for the Clinton Administration, who after denying the printing of this postal stamp is now witnessing huge demand for the once "banned" stamp. Again the Clintons find themselves on the wrong side of another important issue.

The producers of the newly revived "decorative" A-bomb stamp are part of a growing movement to oppose attempts by elite revisionists who until just recently have run roughshod over many of the nation's institutions. Just as the Senate voted 99-1 to reject an attempt to delete Paul Revere, George Washington and Thomas Edison from the nation's schoolroom textbooks, Gerry Newhouse and Ron Kaplan have repelled the government's attempt to rip more pages from America's history.

If the postal service had been allowed to publish the stamp, it would have been just another stamp in a series of WWII commemorative stamps. Now, thanks to Gerry and Ron, people will use these privately printed stamps indefinitely as a constant reminder to those who would oppose the truth. I, for one, intend to buy several dozen sheets of stamps for use alongside my regular postage. If you would like to join this historical rebuttal of cultural revisionism, you may write Gerry and Ron at Midcoast Marketing, 1620 E. Broad St., Ste. 106, Columbus, OH 43203.

Judge Hoogasian heads food drive

The Honorary Chairperson of the eighth annual "All Lake County" Food Drive is the Honorable Jack Hoogasian. Judge Hoogasian is very supportive of the drive, and agreed to act as Honorary Chair of the event because of its importance to the community. Each year, canned and packaged food is collected from all over Lake County for distribution to county emergency food distributors who request help. Unlike many other drives, this drive is unique, as all food collected during the drive stays in Lake County.

The drive, running from March 5 through 18, is sponsored by the Lake County Food Resource Council; the Boy Scouts of America, Northeast Council; the Lake County Life Underwriters Association; Baxter Health Care Systems; and radio station, WKRS/WXLC.

The Boy Scouts will be placing bags for donations on doors all over the county on March 11, although collections will begin at county schools, churches, business, libraries, fire stations and other agencies the week of March 6. The drive is always held in the late winter to replenish stock that tends to run low as winter draws to a close.

In 1994, over 350 volunteers worked to collect and sort over 85,000 pounds of food. The food was collected from 96 schools, 10 public libraries, 18 fire departments, 25 corporations, 109 churches and 85 other organizations. All food collected was immediately distributed without cost to 29 soup kitchens and food pantries which feed the hungry in Lake County.

Chairperson of the drive is Ann Conroy, Attorney with the Lake County State's Attorney's Office. Conroy urges all county residents to share with those less fortunate. Canned and packaged foods of any type are welcome. She suggested, "give something your family likes to eat." For information on collection points, or to volunteer your help for the drive, call Kitty Shumaker at 336-3072.

Wardrobe sale benefits Goodwill

Looking good on the job has never felt quite so good, thanks to Carson Pirie Scott & Co.'s Goodwill Wardrobe Sale.

From March 9 through 12, shoppers can bring, to any Carson's store, their old "wear-to-work" clothes for donation to Goodwill Industries. For every item brought in, customers receive a $10 certificate good toward any $50 purchase of apparel, accessories or shoes.

Each of the 53 Carson Pirie Scott & Co. stores will set up special donation tables, where suits, blazers, sportcoats, dresses, blouses, dress shirts, pants and skirts may be brought.

Goodwill Industries believes that meaningful work results in reduced poverty, increased individual self-esteem, and ultimately personal and family success. "Our community works with us every step of the way when they support activities such as the Goodwill Wardrobe Sale," said Miller.

Tribute to Bix features Banu Gibson and the New Orleans Hot Jazz

CLAUDIA M. LENART
Regional Editor

Madri Gras is past, yet the sounds of New Orleans jazz are coming to Libertyville this weekend for another annual event—A Tribute to Bix Beiderbecke.

For the sixth year, Phil Pospychala has planned a full weekend of events to pay tribute to legendary jazz cornetist Bix Beiderbecke. "A Tribute to Bix: The Dream Continues Part VI" runs March 10 to 12 at Raffaelli's and Hitch-Inn Post Motor Inn, Routes 21 and 137 in Libertyville.

Bix Beiderbecke was a master jazz cornetist born in Davenport, Iowa who died in 1931 at the young age of 28.

The legendary jazz man grew to widespread prominence in the 1920s after listening to New Orleans musicians performing in Chicago and on the Mississippi River. He developed a unique style of cornet playing with clear, tempered "bell-like" tones and phrasings of a haunting, yet hot quality.

Bix recorded on major labels, led several jazz bands and was a feature soloist with Frank Trumbauer and Paul Whiteman.

Bix has a local connection having attended Lake Forest College for awhile.

This year's featured performer is Banu Gibson and the New Orleans Hot Jazz. Banu performs traditional jazz and has won rave reviews for her performance style.

The 'Wrong Man' is the write man

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

With olive-skin against a black overcoat shrouding part of the noonday sun through the east windows of the Country Squire, Johnsburg resident Armand Partipilo appeared as self-possessed as a Frenchman in a cafe.

From the way he ordered his 'salade' to the way he posed and smoked, Partipilo's European-influence was apparent, and intriguing, somewhat like the character in his book, Tony Reynolds.

Born in Chicago of Italian immigrants, Partipilo did what other kids in his multi-cultural neighborhood did and attended Taft High School. Soon he was being educated at Lake Forest

College and later at the University of Chicago, where he learned his love of literature and the craft of writing.

At the small liberal arts college of Lake Forest, Partipilo became one of the editors of the literary quarterly "Tusigla."

He was drafted into the United States Army, and was trained in counter-intelligence for a few years during the Korean War.

After serving his time in the military he went home, but only for a short while. Partipilo decided to go back to Europe on the GI Bill.

That was the setting which influenced him to write his first published novel, "Wrong Man," in which pieces of it were actually scribbled out in the 1960s.

Since Partipilo was fluent in the languages of Italian and French, it wasn't long before he landed a job as an instructor at a school where English was taught in Rome during the late '50s and '60s. Then he tutored in Paris where he also worked as a journalist.

In France he continued writing novels and short stories, but like Ernest Hemingway, it wasn't easy to get anything published at first.

Partipilo frequented the cafes and bistros of the bohemian-style Latin Quarter. There he met many people who were, or who were soon-to-be, notable writers. A number of them were American-born.

Ironically, Partipilo, who is American, was often mistaken for being an Italian-native while seen relaxing with a glass of merlot.

Once he was acquainted with a publisher in France who was ready and excited about publishing Partipilo's first book. Two weeks later, however, the French publisher dropped dead of a heart attack.

This became the butt of a joke amongst his friends in Paris. For a while when they saw him, they'd say "De la literature mortele," meaning "You write deadly literature."

The interview at the Grayslake ristorante unraveled the fascinating life Partipilo led as a young man.

He talked about a New York native, James Baldwin, whom he met while in Europe and about another African-American named Richard Wright who he met in Paris. Wright knew the Whos Who in the circle of literature, and soon the author of the well-known novel "Native Son," introduced Partipilo to a literary agency in New York, Paul R. Reynolds and Sons.

The hard luck of an aspiring writer followed Partipilo though, and the New York agency tried unsuccessfully to get his original novel "A Chance for the Brave" published. It's about an Italian-American kid growing up in Chicago—not far from the likes of the author himself.

That novel ended up sitting on a shelf with others, however, parts of a different unpublished novel were put to good use for the basis of the book, the "Wrong Man." This one was to be called "Fatal Anger" originally.

Published by Strawberry Hill Press, formerly from California, the novel is a love story laced with terrorism. It's unusual from other books of the same topics, as it "gives terrorism some roots," explained the author who related what his previous agent had told him.

While the majority of the novel takes place abroad, parts of it refer to none other than the midwestern town of Delavan, Wisconsin. This was done deliberately to show the contrast of the sophisticated and dangerous places in Europe to establishing the hero in the pastoral remoteness of middle-America—a refuge, a place to come home to. The back cover book flap describes the story well. "Tony Reynolds is an American caught up in a foreign environment of international terrorism, love, and betrayal. This suspenseful story goes far beyond the genre of simple thriller, and involves money, Palestinians and Israelis, Baader-Meinhoff, Brigate Rosse, Action Directe, Interpol, the KGB, and CIA, and Shin Bet, bombings, assassinations, and kidnappings—and a colorful cast of characters who people those shadowy worlds."

While writing, Partipilo said he is very disciplined, and begins early in the morning, around 4 a.m. His inspiration, explained the writer, simply comes from the compulsion to put his pen to paper.

While there are a number of his favorite authors including Italian and French, Partipilo named some of his best-read Americans as Mark Twain, Ernest Hemingway, and F. Scott Fitzgerald. "I don't think we have an American writer (today) that you could put next to Hemingway or Fitzgerald," explained Partipilo.

Partipilo describes himself as having some of the similarities the lead character in his book has. "I have a little bit of a chameleon quality which helps me in my business," he said.

The author who is the president of an international sales company located in Richmond, explained that growing up of immigrant parents, he was actually given the opportunity to become very Americanized. "My parents fulfilled the American dream," said Partipilo. "They wanted us to be Americans." He explained he's glad to be both. "I'm proud to be an American, and I'm proud to be an Italian."

Though not yet published, merely 90-days ago the author completed another book, deemed to be a big seller. While the topic of twins has been used before, nowhere has there been a book about fraternal twins, Partipilo said. "Deadly Eden" is a mystery which takes you through the City of Chicago, and a fictional place that combines the Chain O' Lakes and Lake Geneva.

The setting is during the early '60s and involves the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the Italian Mafia, and flashbacks from the Korean War.

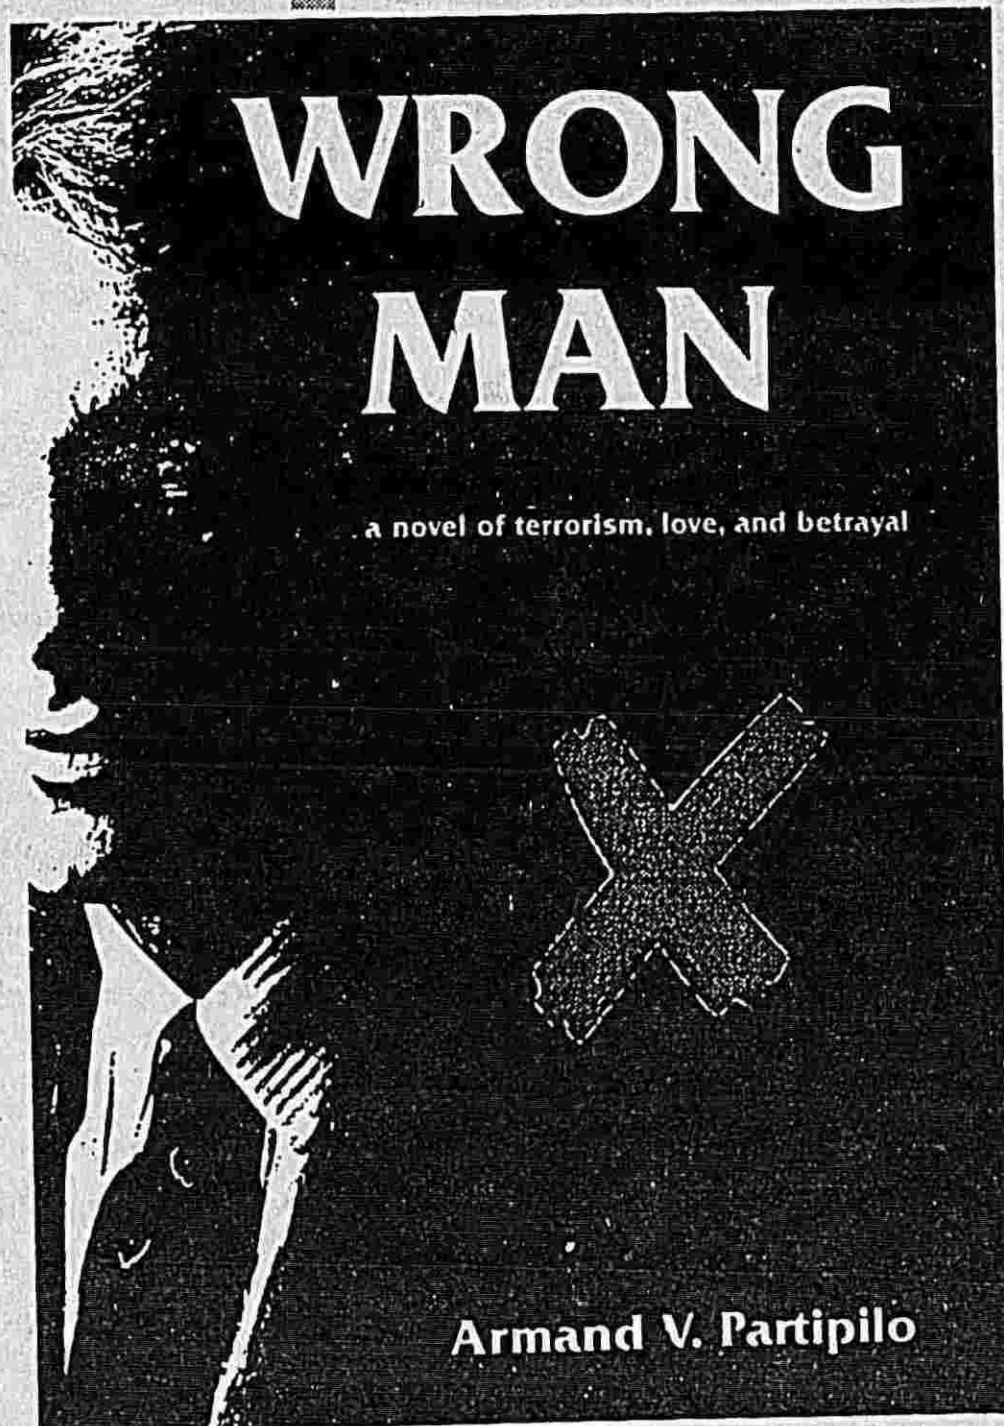

Partipilo describes "Deadly Eden" as "action-packed," and as being of the "central intrigue, physiological, and spiritual" theme. In the book, one of the twins dies suddenly, and the other is obsessed with the death.

For 15 years Partipilo has been running his business, A.V.P. Enterprises, Inc., in which he's involved in handling U.S. manufacturing abroad.

He resides on the Fox River with his family.

Armand Partipilo

Johnsburg resident Armand Partipilo's first published novel, the "Wrong Man" was actually written in part during the 1960s while in Europe. Partipilo just completed his second book, "Deadly Eden," deemed to be a big seller.

PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Want to avoid the crowds at Disney World, and save some money? Plan to see America's favorite rodent sometime around April or May. (If you can't get away then, a fall trip would also save you some bucks.

So what's going on this spring at WDW? (Travel Agent talk for Walt Disney World).

The only snow-capped ski resort in Florida, "Blizzard Beach" (actually a water) opens at Disney in April. Here thrill-seekers can slide down a curving slalom course water slide. The real adventurous can take a chair lift to a mountain top for a 60 mile an hour free-fall down a 120-foot ski jump!

The sports-minded may want to include April 22. The date of the NFL Quarterback Challenge. In their Disney plans. The likes of Steve Young, Randall Cunningham and Boomer Esiason will be competing on the Palm golf course for $125,000 in prizes.

Just in time for spring garden planning, April 28 is the date of Disney's Second Annual Flower & Garden Festival at Epcot. Better Homes & Gardens teams up with WDW to present hundreds of displays featuring more than 30 million flowers.

Got some teen graduating this year? May 5 is "Grad Nite" at the Magic Kingdom. Your high school seniors can join other grads for an all-night blowout, featuring top bands.

Third Millennium at the New Tomorrowland, featuring intergalactic adventures, opens at the Magic Kingdom in May.

For a real thrill, visit the new Twilight Zone Tower of Terror at the Disney-MGM Studios and experience a 13 story free fall!

While you're at MGM be sure to see Arnold, Sly, Bruce and Demi's newest "Planet Hollywood", filled with the usual array of star memorabilia.

On the tamer side, see the new Legend of the Lion King or the reopened Snow White's Adventure at the Magic Kingdom. This time Ms. White claims her place as "fairest of them all" with the wicked queen taking a back seat in the story.

So instead of waiting for summer vacation, take the kids out of school for a day or two and plan an extended weekend to Disney World this spring. Better yet, get Grandma to baby sit and how about Mom and Dad enjoying a weekend at Disney by themselves? You can always take the kids again in the summer!

Timber frame home has roots in early America

Todd Heisler

For George and Judy Sampson their Hearthstone home is a dream come true.

The couple has always wanted a log cabin home and the Hearthstone series offers special features such as all wooden pegs and a timber frame which make the home striking and unique.

Hearthstone Homes began in 1971. In the early years the company reconstructed old log homes exclusively. Eight years ago they began producing their second product line: Timber Frame Homes. An interest which grew out of the company's interest in hand crafting heavy timber construction.

Today, Hearthstone no longer restores old log homes, but the knowledge and reverence the company gained from remodeling the frameworks that our forefathers built has remained with them and is reflected in their productions, including the use of the Timberwright as one of its symbols.

Timberwright characterizes the intimate relationship the craftsmen have with wood and a common sense approach to its uses. The early American house was hewn by the Timberwright from logs right on the spot. He often did so long after sawmills were common, simply because it was easier than hauling to the mill and back.

If it was a timber frame house, he would cut all the timbers from the house to size, joint and assemble them on the ground, a whole side at a time. Then he called in a gag of men to raise the frame with long poles called pikes. The erection process supplied by Hearthstone is similar today with the exception that the company now relies on a crane to do the lifting. Hearthstone is committed to this nearly lost art and trade of Timberwright.

Harvard residents, the Sampsons, fell in love with a Hearthstone model home after viewing a video on Timber frame homes obtained through their chimney sweep, Kevin Smith, who was going into the Timber frame home business. The Sampsons were so impressed, they visited the Hearthstone headquarters near Dollywood in Dandridge, Tenn.

George taught biology at Barrington High School for 27 years and bought the Harvard property eight years ago with the idea to build a dream home.

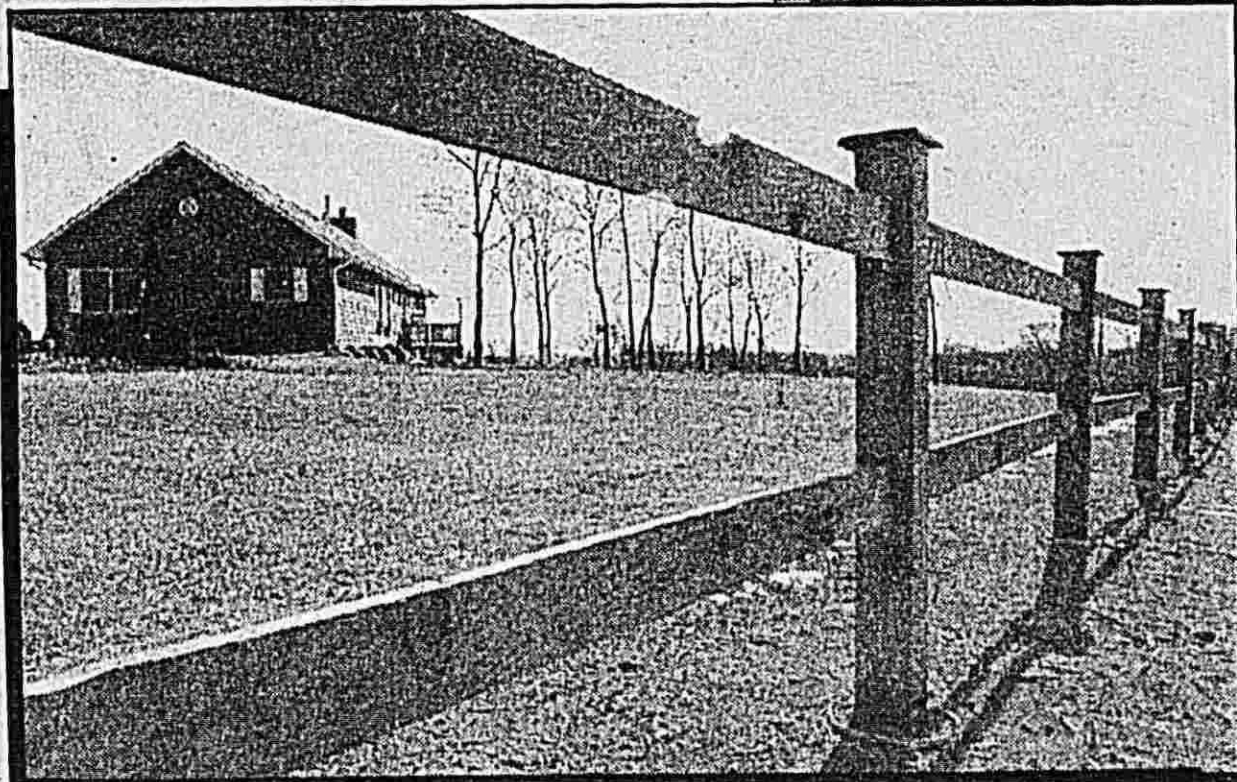

The Sampsons own the S and S Garden Center and are self-proclaimed "do it yourselfers." They began building their home in October of 1992 and moved in May 1, 1993.

George completed the 1,400 feet of woodwork, including the lap joints in the wood work, as a custom design. The couple also put in their own fireplace and did the masonry.

The great room is a focal point in the home. According to George it took just two and one-half days to complete the room which includes a bird perch feeder in the window which literally brings nature into the home.

"The birds come inside to feed," said George. The room features white walls, raspberry carpeting and wood furnishing accented with light beige, blue and pink.

Chicago Flower and Garden show presents 'Days of Vines and Roses'

The flowers are the stars of the show as True Value presents the Chicago Flower and Garden Show March 11 through 19 at McCormick Place. The Midwest's premier garden show returns to Chicago after a 16-year absence. The nine-day show features information, entertainment, and more than 85,000 square feet of spectacular flower displays.

Landscape architects, contractors, florists, garden clubs and horticulturists are combining to present more than 30 displays depicting the latest designs and trends in gardening—from a small rooftop space to a landscaped garden for a country estate. Of particular interest to railroad buffs will be a 750 square foot garden railroad display, complete with miniature trees, shrubs and flower varieties.

Expect the unusual from the show which is emphasizing fun and entertainment in its return to the Windy City. It's being advertised as the "Days of Vine and Roses," while inviting visitors to "take a look at our bloomers."

Look for topiary displays from Walt Disney World sculpted to look like Disney characters found throughout the Magic Kingdom, Epcot '95 and The Disney-MGM Studios in Florida.

Even Chicago's Brookfield Zoo will get into the action with a display of a downsized replica of its new swamp and wetlands exhibit, scheduled to open this year.

The Garden Clubs of Illinois will be on hand to emphasize activities in which they're involved, including: civic beautification, education, gardening in small spaces, helping communities establish gardens and resource information. They'll even tell you where to get ladybugs and praying mantis for your gardens.

But the lion's share of the show will be devoted to flowers, flowers, flowers, according to Carleton Rogers, show director. "We hope to transform the hall into a floral wonderland. Trees, flowers, and every growing thing imaginable will be planted in a landscape that will bring back, and no doubt surpass, the magic and majesty of past Chicago Flower and Garden Shows."

Workshop topics at the show will range from general garden and lawn care tips to specialized seminars including: cactus and succulents, organic gardens, and All-American Selections for annuals. In addition, commercial and retail exhibitors featuring products and services for the care of gardens and lawns will also be on site.

Admission for adults is $8, $6 for groups of 25 or more. Tickets for children ages 6 through 12 are $4. The Show is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sundays, March 12 and 19. For ticket information call (312)321-0078.

Huge home improvement show scheduled at Lake County Fairgrounds

The Lake County Home Show will premier at the Lake County Fairgrounds in buildings No. 1 and No. 7 on March 31, April 1 and 2. This show will feature 200 exhibits of home improvement, products and services complete with many special home project seminars and expert celebrity appearances.

The world's number one cleaning and clutter expert, Don Aslett, also the author of numerous books will share his knowledge on the subject of housecleaning and de-junking your life. He is well-known media personality, business owner and nationally known speaker. Aslett is scheduled to speak Saturday and Sunday.

In addition, Beverly DeJulio, "Ms. Fix-It," will be on hand to give her enthusiastic approach to fixing common household problems and introducing the latest in home improvement gadgets. DeJulio is the co-host of Easy Does

It on the Discovery Channel. DeJulio will be appearing Friday and Saturday.

Other show highlights include: a spa display, sewing area, healthy cooking show, backyard playsets, home theatre, decorating, furnishing, hourly seminars, demonstrations, and Commonwealth Edison Energy Bus.

Easy to build traditional picnic table ready for spring

Spring will be here soon and for outdoor dining, nothing suits the relaxed, informal mood of spring and summer better than an old fashioned picnic table, made from sturdy Western softwood lumber. This traditionally-styled table, with its crossed legs and kid-resistant 2x6 top, is surprisingly easy to build with economical Western softwood lumber. Western lumber is an excellent choice for the picnic table as well as many other home improvement projects, both inside and out. Wood is not only attractive and easy to work with, it's also environmentally sensitive because it's the only building material that is perpetually renewable.

The table, built from standard-size 2x4 and 2x6 lumber, requires no special woodworking tools or skills. For long lasting weather resistance, use a naturally durable wood such as cedar and cover it during inclement weather.

To assemble the legs, cut four lengths of 2x4 each measuring 36 inches. Lay the 2x4s flat and mark the location of a bolt hole in the center of each leg, 18 inches from the ends. Drill a 3/8 inch bolt hole in each leg. Connect two legs together, scissor fashion, using a 3/8 inch bolt with washers; tighten the nut with finger pressure only. Complete the second set of legs as above.

Cut two 25-inch lengths of 2x6 for the rails.

To trim the legs to the correct angle, lay the X-shaped legs on a flat surface. Position the rails across the legs so the sides of the legs intersect the corners of the rails, as shown in Figure B. Make sure the rails are parallel, then mark cuttings lines on the legs using the outside edges of the rails as guides. Cut as marked.

The rails are used to connect the legs on the table top. With the rails laying flat, cut a notch measuring 1 1/2 inches by 7 inches in one end of each rail; at the other end, cut a notch measuring three inches by seven inches. (See Figure C). Drill 3/8 inch bolt holes in the rails approximately two inches and four inches from each end. (See Figure C). Temporarily position legs in the notches, then mark the exact location for the bolt holes in the tops of the legs. Drill matching 3/8 inch holes in the legs and attach them to the rails with bolts, washers and nuts.

For the table top, cut five 72-inch lengths of 2x6. Place the boards on a flat surface, best face down, and space them 1/4 inch apart with the ends even. With legs attached, position the rails six inches from each end, notches facing the inside. (See Figure D). Predrill screw holes and, using 2 1/2 inch screws, attach the rails to the table top, two fasteners per plank.

Cut one 25-inch 2x4 for the center brace; position it between and parallel to the rails and attach with screws. (See Figure D).

Stand the table on its legs, making sure legs are straight. To determine the proper length for the stretcher, measure the distance between the outside legs and cut a 2x4 to that length. Attach the stretcher to the legs with two screws at each end. (See Fig. A).

To preserve the natural look of unfinished wood, apply a clear water-repellent finish. For a longer-lasting finish, use a water-repelling semi-transparent stain.

Materials list: Lumber—Top (5) 2x6, 72-inches; Rails (2) 2x6, 25-inches; Brace (1) 2x4, 25-inches; Legs (4) 2x4, 36-inches; Stretcher (1) 2x4, 60-inches.

Fasteners—(6) machine bolts, 3/8-inch X 4 1/2-inches; (4) machine bolts, 3/8-inch X 6-inches; (36) 2 1/2-inch rust-resistant screws.

Tools—Hammer, power saw, electric drill, 3/8-inch bit, screw-size bit, screwdriver, tape measure.

DECORATING DIMENSIONS

Bring the outdoors inside with a floral decorating scheme

Inside the home, flowers and floral patterns can transform a basic decorating scheme into one that excites the eye and inspires the mood. Whether they are splashed openly on draperies, furnishings and carpets, or displayed demurely on tabletop boxes, vases or plates, flowers exude expression for our innate love of nature. The secret to success in decorating with floral themes lies in the skillful way these items are selected and mixed. A disciplined approach will produce a carnival of color; an undisciplined one may result in a riotous clash. The best way to begin is to choose a color scheme and then build a decorating plan around it.

The next step is to decide how to express your color preference in a floral room design. The possibilities are almost limitless, so it's important to plan your decorating moves carefully.

For walls, floral print wallpaper or fabric offers the greatest range of choices, be it large or small flowered prints, tone-on-tone or rainbow florals, or faded or bright palettes.

Window treatments, such as floral-print draperies, swags and valances, can also be used to give rooms a perennial touch. Window treatments can also be coordinated with furniture fabric, bedding or linens to tie a decorating scheme together.

Floral prints on furnishings can range from muted to splashy, depending on the mood you're trying to create. And it doesn't hurt to mix and match fabric patterns, as long as the color harmony is maintained.—by MARY LEBEN, Decorating Den Grayslake, Gurnee. For decorating questions call Leben at 662-6612.

Swags: A tradition from the past

Swags and cascades or festoons and jabots were first used in the late 18th century. They were often quite elaborate in design and were hung on an exposed pole or rod which was embellished with ornamental finials. The swag or festoon is that part of the treatment which forms a horizontal swoop, while the cascade or jabot creates soft vertical folds and hangs on one or both sides of the swag.

Today's swags are a variation on this theme and are available in many different styles, which range from a clear imitation of the formal past to a subtle, contemporary interpretation which seems light and airy by comparison. One of the most popular styles of today is the throw swag, which is sometimes hung on a rod or tied to rings or brackets specifically fabricated for this purpose. The fabrics range from gauze-like sheers to large scale patterns, with satins and sateens being a frequent favorite because of their excellent draping ability.

A formal swag hangs in uniform, graceful folds, whereas a throw swag appears to have been casually draped over the rod. Rosettes, fringe and pelmets are options to be considered when selecting a swag for a truly custom effect.

One advantage of a swag treatment is that it frames the window without covering up most of the glass. This allows the natural light into the room. Pleated shades or wood blinds can be used for privacy and light control.

LIFE'S A BEAR

DONNA ABEAR

Behind the Scenes with RESCUE A.B.E.A.R.

"William 'Kirk' Shatner here. And welcome to RESCUE A.B.E.A.R. The incident I'm going to tell you about is true. Of course, we have used actors to recreate the story and changed the names of everyone involved so as to prevent any lawsuits.

It's a bright winter day - the camera pans to the Abear House.

Off camera. A bag of garbage sits on the front porch, where the 16 year old son has left it for 3 days. (It's another five steps to the can and, hey, it's winter.)

On camera. Forget the outside view. Cut to inside. Mrs. Abear is putting coats on her 6 year old son and 15 month old daughter for a quick trip to the vet. "Here, kitty, kitty - get in the carrier. We have to keep down the cat population."

Off-camera. The male kitten is holding his groin. "Oh, yeah?" the kitten says. "Who made you a spokeswoman for birth control? Where did those 4 kids come from? Especially that last one - Refrigerator Sammie."

On camera. The voice of Mrs. Abear can be heard, as the camera follows her through the events of that fateful day. "It was just like any other day. I bundled up the children and the cat, and dropped them off at the vet to be neutered (the cat, not the children). By then, it was obvious that my baby daughter was starving, since she had tried to consume a Power Ranger on the way home. I fed the poor little dear some cereal and fruit, and she was so thrilled over her food that she decided to decorate her hair with it. It was a punk look, I guess you could say, her hair a lovely apple-blueberry shade of blue. After lunch, when she tired of playing "Kitchen Air Raid", her favorite game (which consists of throwing cans of soup from the pantry through the railings down to the living room below, occasionally beaming the cat), I decided to put her down for a nap."

Off camera. The baby is screaming. She does not want to take a nap. Her mother pleads with her, "Please Sammie, take a nap. Please. How about if I sing you a lullaby?" Mrs. Abear is then hit with a projectile from the crib. It is Big Bird.

On camera. Mrs. Abear waves to her daughter. "Goodnight sweetheart." She shrugs at the cameraman. "Sometimes she needs to cry for a few minutes to relax her. She'll get over it soon."

Mrs. Abear closes the door, and the hidden camera records the action in the child's room. Little Sammie screams louder, taking time out every minute or so to fling another stuffed animal from her crib. She stops screaming for a moment and claps with delight when she knocks the lamp off the dresser with her Lamb Chop toy. Back to screaming, she now decides to try to escape from the crib. She attempts to lift her leg to the top of the railing, but can't quite make it. Her leg slips between the bars of the crib, all the way to the top of her chubby thigh. She wiggles, trying to remove it, but cannot. She screams louder, and the more she struggles, the tighter it becomes wedged.

Off camera. Mrs. Abear is in the kitchen banging her head on the counter. "Go to sleep. Please go to sleep."

On camera. Mrs. Abear, realizing that Sammie does not want to nap, goes to her room to get her back up. She opens the door, and sees her poor little daughter with her chubby little thigh wedged between the crib bars. She walks over to help her get it out. It won't budge. Sammie screams louder. Mrs. Abear begins to panic. The camera pans back to our host, William Shatner, "So, Mrs. Abear - can I call you Donna - tell me, do you think the tights are a better look for me? Oh, I didn't realize we were on camera. Ahem.

Good Food Pasta cheese bake, a pleaser

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

Pasta is always a crowd pleaser and pasta with cheese is too tempting to pass. One whiff of the following casserole's enticing aroma, one sight of its melted cheese topping and everyone will be at the dinner table before they're called. From the Dairy Council of Wisconsin:

Italian Sausage and Pasta Bake

8 ounces ziti or mostaccioli pasta

1 pound mild or hot Italian sausage

1 large onion, coarsely chopped

2 cloves garlic, minced

1 each large red and green bell pepper, cut into 1-inch squares

1 can (14 1/2 ounces) diced tomatoes or pasta-style tomatoes, undrained

1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste

1/4 cup chopped fresh or 2 teaspoons dried basil

2 cups (8 ounces) Wisconsin shredded Italian blend cheeses

Cook pasta according to package directions; drain. Cut sausage into 1/2 inch pieces; discard casings. Cook sausage in 12-inch skillet over medium heat until browned on all sides, turning occasionally. Pour off drippings.

Add onion, garlic, and bell peppers; continue to cook 5 minutes or until sausage is cooked through and vegetables are crisp-tender; stirring occasionally. Add tomatoes and tomato paste; mix well. Stir in pasta and basil; transfer to 13-by-9-inch baking dish.

Cover with foil; bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes. Uncover, sprinkle shredded cheese evenly over casserole. Continue to bake 5 minutes or until cheese is melted. Makes 6 servings.

'Grave' as shallow as name

With the success of "Pulp Fiction," historically we should now have a rash of way-out, blood-and-mayhem-filled psychological thrillers.

One of the first of these to be released in "Fiction's" wake is "Shallow Grave," which at times is as gross as fiction, without Quentin Tarantino's underlying depth of feeling amidst the destruction.

Kerry Fox, Christopher Eccleston, Ewan McGregor, are roommates in a loft in Edinburgh, Scotland who accept a new roommate in seemingly fast-living Hugo, played by Keith Allen.

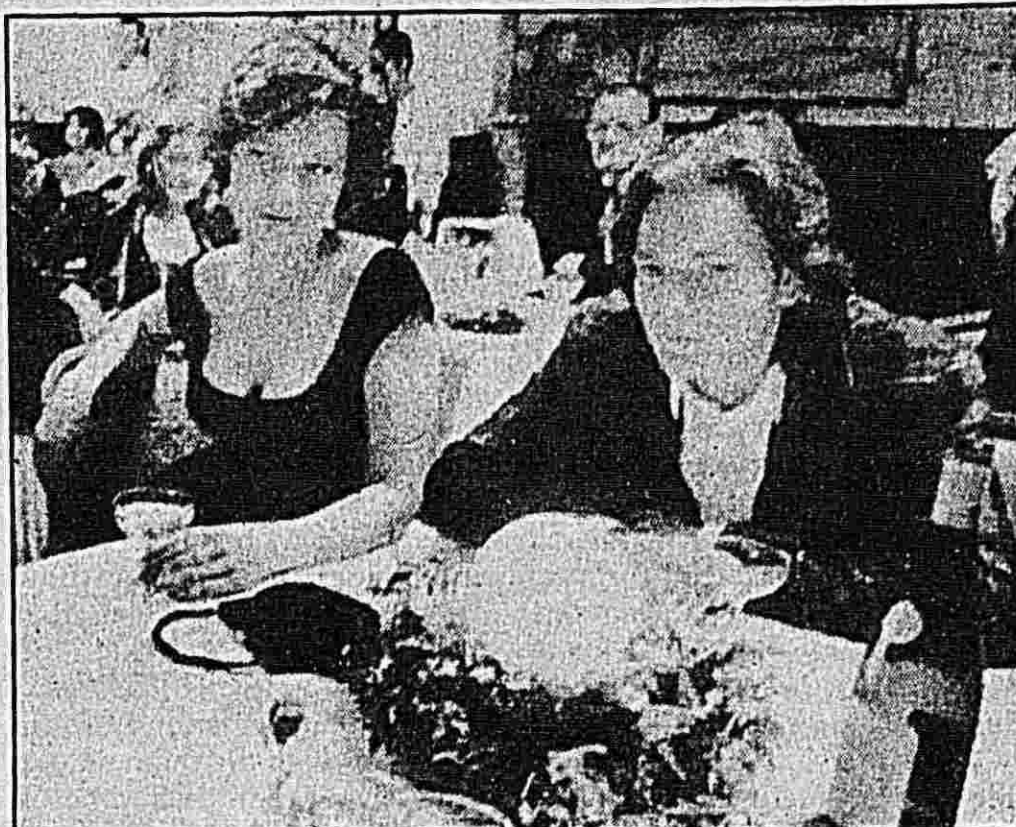

This crew of "today" young adults has a variety of occupations, Allen is supposedly a novelist, Fox a doctor, Eccleston an accountant, and McGregor a journalist.

The fun starts when the other three find Hugo dead of an overdose of drugs and a case full of money among his possessions.

Suspecting that Hugo had skipped with drug money turns his roommates into scared kids almost afraid to leave their lofty lair while they are deciding whether to simply take off, leaving Hugo naked in a scarlet bed, take the money and dump Hugo, or call the police and let them handle the entire thing.

Some of the dialogue is witty, but the majority of it is irritatingly fast and meaningless.

The picture will prove to be depressing to some, as they watch the three roommates rush headlong towards destruction without rhyme or reason.

There are those who found "Pulp Fiction" to be disgusting, but fascinating, who will find

"Shallow" just disgusting, with few redeeming qualities. We give this one two out of five stars.—by GLORIA DAVIS

The McNulty Irish Dancers

Gilmer Roadhouse, food the whole family can agree on

A rustic family atmosphere and reasonable prices keep people coming back to downtown Gilmer and the pleasing family-oriented Gilmer Roadhouse.

Celebrate St. Patrick's Day at Gilmer Roadhouse by bringing the family in for corned beef and cabbage, Irish stew, and, of course, green beer. Irish dancers will be there for your entertainment. On the day when everybody is a little Irish, Gilmer Roadhouse is the place to be! Don't let the rustic look fool you. Inside are some of the finest people serving up excellent food in a casual and comfortable setting. The house specialty is baby back ribs.

For Italian food lovers, nothing beats the homemade lasagna or pizza, thin or pan. The pizza is made from scratch from the crust down to the sauce.

Gilmer's Roadhouse features daily specials with items usually not on the regular menu.

On Fridays stop in for the all-you-can-eat fish fry, with a choice of cod or ocean perch or a mix of both for just $5.95. The price includes choice of potato, homemade soup or salad and garlic bread.

If it's a good burger you crave there is nothing better than sinking your teeth into one of Gilmer Roadhouse's 10 varieties of thick 1/2 pound made to order charbroiled burger.

Homemade soups are served daily. A special treat is to have the New England Clam Chowder with the Friday fish fry. The prices are very reasonable. Items from the children's menu start at just $2.95.

There is a lounge area which serves pizza after the restaurant is closed. If you stop in on weekends reservations are suggested. For early risers come enjoy breakfast which opens at 8 a.m. on Sunday.

Taggart and his family welcome you to stop into the restaurant today. Restaurant hours are Monday through Thursday, 11 a.m. to 10:30, on Friday and Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. and on Sundays from 8 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Gilmer Roadhouse is located on the corner of Gilmer and Midlothian Roads. For carry out orders or for reservations call 438-0300.

American traditions live at The Village Tavern

Located in the heart of historic Long Grove, the Village Tavern offers the best of the 1990s in the exciting atmosphere of the 1920s. Owned by the Sayles family, the restaurant has been around for more than 30 years, attracting diners from all over the county and beyond. After an afternoon of browsing in Long Grove's quaint shops, there's nothing like a meal at the Village Tavern to restore the spirit.

Come on in for great all-you-can eat specials, including: Tuesday evenings, meatloaf with mashed potatoes and vegetable for $6.50; Wednesday, chicken served with fries, slaw and home made bread for $6.25; Thursday features BBQ Beef Ribs with fries, cole slaw and home made bread for $6.95; and Friday is fish with fries, cole slaw and homemade bread for $7.95 for adults and $6.75 for kids.

Other tempting dinner choices include a luscious top sirloin butt steak, available in two sizes, country fried chicken prepared the old-fashioned way in an iron skillet, and the Tavern's Pride baby back ribs. Pork chops, lamb chops and the Tavern's famous perch round out the varied menu. Everything is cooked to order at the Village Tavern. Dinners include tasty home made soup, a crisp garden salad and a loaf of Tavern bread.

If it's fun you crave, come to The Village Tavern on a Tuesday or Thursday night, when consigned items are offered in a spirited auction beginning at 7:30 p.m. Along with fish on Fridays, Bob Opal is featured as the entertainment for the evening, playing the piano for everyone's enjoyment. A Swing Jazz band provides entertainment from 7 to 11 p.m. Saturday and 5 to 9 p.m. Sunday.

Busy shoppers can take a mid-day break at the Village Tavern and enjoy one of the many sandwiches, salads or smaller portions of dinner features. The Country Salad offers a different combination every day and sandwiches range from broiled chicken breast to everyone's favorite Reuben. Lunch is served till 5 p.m.

'Time of My Life' reveals special birthday presents

Scene from Steppenwolf Theatre Company's production of "Time of My Life."

In "Time of My Life," playwright Alan Ayckbourn assembles his characters for a birthday party dinner at the English family's favorite restaurant, perfectly created on the stage of Chicago's Steppenwolf Theater.

That moment is frozen in time, and it becomes the focal point of the drama. As the night wears on, the two middle-aged parents learn secrets about one another's personal life and financial stability.

Their married son reconciles with his spouse, while the single son uses the occasion to introduce his latest heart throb.

With ingenious symmetry, Ayckbourn flushes out this main event with complementary scenes at adjoining tables of the same restaurant.

Stage left, the loyal but unloved son (Neil Flynn) and his anorexic wife (Martha Lavey) move ahead from one scene to the next testing their shaky marriage.

Stage right, each succeeding scene takes a step into the past as the relationship between the younger, unsettled son (Ian Barford) and his unconventional, pink-haired charmer (Mariann Mayberry) is traced to its earliest days.

Robert Bruehl is kind of a lovable bulldog as patriarch of this mildly dysfunctional family, and Molly Regan is the self-centered, destructive birthday girl.

Indefatigable David Novak gets a workout in multiple roles as waiter, matron and restaurant owner.

"Time of My Life," thoughtfully directed by Michael Maggio, will play through March 19.

Ticket information is available at (312)335-1650.—by TOM WITOM

Bix

"Her singing is very authentic. She sings material from the '20s and '30s in a very authentic style," said Pospychala.

Banu has performed with the St. Louis Symphony and various other symphonies. Her band was featured in the PBS Series "Dixieland Jazz from New Orleans," PBS's "Riverboat Ragfest" and she is the vocalist for PBS's "Great Chefs of New Orleans."

Banu's pianist David Boeddinghaus is a superior jazz musician and a Bix follower. Pospychala knows him through record trading. Banu Gibson and the New Orleans Hot Jazz will perform on Saturday at 8 p.m. along with Ralph Norton's Varsity Ramblers. On Sunday, at 1 p.m., Leah LaBrea and her Flexo Boys will perform.

The weekend also includes record buying, selling and trading, a $500 mystery record contest, a seminar, rare jazz films and more.

A Tribute to Bix continues to draw fans of the cornetist from around the world.

This year, Pospychala expects visitors from four countries and 20 states.

Since the event is now more than five years old, Pospychala has applied for a trademark on the title and expects to receive it. The Tribute was also listed this year in the Lake County convention and tourism guide.

Since the Tribute has been such a success, Pospychala is considering coordinating a traditional jazz festival in the area, possibly in the late summer.

Tickets to Tribute to Bix are $55 for the whole weekend and $25 for concerts. For information call the Bix hotline at 362-4016.

Ten free shade trees available

Ten free shade trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during March 1995. The trees are part of the nonprofit Foundation's Trees for America campaign. The trees available are red oak, weeping willow, sugar maple, green ash, thornless honeylocust, pin oak, river birch, tuliptree, silver maple and red maple. To become a member of the foundation and receive the free trees, send a $10 contribution to Free Shade Trees, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska City, NE 68410.

Ameritech builds cable option

WAUKEGAN—Taking another step in the preparations to offer Midwestern consumers an exciting alternative to cable TV, Ameritech announced it has awarded contracts worth up to $475 million for components in its new two-way video communications network. The firms selected by Ameritech and the video network support they provide are: Scientific-Atlanta, Digital Equipment Corp., and ADC Telecommunications Inc. Earlier this month, Ameritech began building the new two-way video network, which is expected to become operational in some Midwestern communities by the end of this year. The company expects to reach about one million new customers a year—and six million customers in five Midwestern states by the year 2001. This past December, the Federal Communications Commission approved Ameritech requests to build the new network.

Satellite network to help

GRAYS LAKE—RE/MAX offices in Glenview, Grayslake and Northbrook are among 22 in the Chicago area that have joined the new RE/MAX Satellite Network (RSN). The network was created by Denver-based RE/MAX International, Inc., and began broadcasting on Nov. 1, 1994. RSN is designed to serve 40,000 sales associates and 20,000 administrative and support personnel in 2,400 RE/MAX offices across the United States and Canada, as well as in Mexico, and the Caribbean, Europe and southern Africa. The launch of RSN offers an entire sales force ready access to information and education that will enhance their professionalism and their productivity, said Betty Hegner, president and co-founder of RE/MAX of Northern Illinois, Inc.

Computers. You can't live with them. You can't live without them. Even many people who consider themselves computer literate look cross-eyed when they're confronted with a message like 'missing .INI file.'

If only there were a compassionate, knowledgeable computer company to come directly to the home to save the confused masses. One Lake Villa company may not see it so melodramatically, but its service actually is based strictly on coming to the home. And, Housecalls Computer Services, Inc. is committed not to cost you the proverbial arm and a leg some other computer doctors do.

"We don't see why it should cost anymore for a computer person to come out than it does for a plumber, electrician or appliance repair person," said Tim Anger, president and co-owner of the company.

Anger said personal visits from computer repair people often cost in the $60 to $70 range on an hourly rate. Anger and his partner, Rick Heatley, charge $45 per hour, with no home visit lasting more than two hours. If they think a job will entail more labor, they advise the computer be brought in to their office where they can work on it. This is especially true in rare cases where they need to call the manufacturer for technical support.

"I don't feel right about charging people while I'm on hold with tech support," Anger said.

Both men only work on IBM compatible computers, which consume over 80 percent of the personal computer market. Both also have full time jobs during the day and have extensive computer backgrounds.

Anger works for Hansen Marine Products, a small machine shop in Lake Villa. He received intensive computer software training by fire as the company moved more and more to computer aided drawing (CAD) programs.

Heatley is an electrical engineer for National Control Corp. in North Chicago. Among other things, he designs circuit boards so he couples with Anger to act as the hardware guru.

— Tim Anger,
president and co-owner of Housecalls Computer Services

Anger says a lot of people who call just want him to clean up or organize their hard drive. This is especially true with users of Microsoft Windows. Anger comes to the home with a portable 420 mb hard drive that plugs into the parallel port of the computer. When he fires the computer up, he is on line with his hard drive, not the troubled one. Using a program called PC Tools, he says he can take care of most software situations.

If the computer has physical damage to the hardware or needs data recovery from a damaged hard drive, Anger refers the customer to Lake County companies who specialize in those areas. No middleman, no extra expense. They also offer free telephone consultations when customers are looking to buy a new system.

Even though the two are occupied during the day, that does not mean people have to wait for a call back. Anger goes to the office during his lunch hour, to return phone calls, then again after work to do the same. People usually are helped within a couple of days, depending on the situation.

"I got a call from one guy on Saturday who told me he was missing a Windows file. I told him I could come out on Monday. He then told me his wife was working on her thesis and it was due Monday," Anger said. Anger made the house call, hooked up his hard drive, replaced the file and saved the day. It was a 15-minute job.

Service is the cornerstone of the firm and, with that in mind, Anger is continually improving himself in software knowledge. He is currently working with OS/2 Warp, IBM's new 32-bit operating system. He has it installed on a 90 mhz Pentium system and says the program blazes when compared to Windows and actually does offer true multi-tasking. He intends to do consulting with Warp much the same as he does with Windows, since he knows many tricks and features for Windows that are not detailed in the original manual.

After that, he will turn his attention to Microsoft's new offering, said to be the best friend to computer novices everywhere. Named Microsoft Bob, the desktop software system is said to be user friendly for people who have no computer knowledge at all.

Since dubbing something as 'easy' is a relative practice where computers are concerned, Housecalls Computer Services intends to continue to be the true friend to computer novices everywhere. The firm's phone number is 973-0052.

Sterling auto repair training seminars continue

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Auto collision specialists from Milwaukee and Indianapolis were on hand at Sterling Inc. in Lake Villa as part of the body shop's ongoing offering of the latest training in the automobile collision field.

The state-of-the-art facility uses the latest technology and highest trained technicians to repair damaged automobile bodies. Sterling Finish also serves as the Lake County hub for training seminars for auto technicians and insurance agents wanting to learn the latest technology and regulations in the auto field.

"There are only so many instructors in the United States, and each course has an instructor who specializes in a specific area," said Bob Rasmussen, an I-CAR auto collision specialist and instructor from Milwaukee. I-

CAR was established in 1979 as an international educational organization dedicated to improving the quality, safety and efficiency of auto collision repair.

More than 50 specialists and insurance representatives were on hand at the last finish matching course. Upcoming courses coming to Sterling Finish include a two-part electronic course, a collision repair for office personnel course, and an aluminum repair and welding course. Sterling offered a 15-week program last summer.

"You need upgrading in the latest technology otherwise you are stuck in the stone age of your past training," Rasmussen said. "Sterling sees a need for training and keeping up with the times."

Tony Passwater, an I-CAR representative from Indianapolis, said the auto "consumer is the benefit of this training."

The courses also update technicians and body shop owners on the latest federal regulations in environmental safety and employee "right to know" laws about employment conditions.

Insurance companies benefit by knowing which body shops employ I-CAR-trained technicians. Insurance companies are increasingly referring their policy holders to I-CAR body shops to repair their automobiles.

"We're trying to build bridges between insurance and auto collision," said Jere Hagen of State Farm Insurance in Gurnee. "We want Lake County to become I-CAR trained, which means safe repairs for our insurance policy holders—to make sure cars are repaired correctly and consistently because we have had problems in the past."

Home addition suggestions designed to recapture property value

When a seller is considering selling their present home, the question most often asked is, "What improvements should I make that I can actually recapture on the sale price?"

The best rule of thumb is that a buyer buys what they actually see. For example carpeting is the quickest fresher and update improvement a seller can make. Generally offering a carpeting allowance is helpful but does nothing to ignite excitement when the buyer walks in and gets that all important first impression. Many people just don't have the imagination to replace old worn, tired, dated carpeting with a vision of the same home with new carpet. Keep your selection neutral to insure the fullest spectrum of buyer appeal.

Fresh paint gives another immediate face lift to a home. Be careful to choose an off white that isn't too yellow or too gray. Pay a little extra to have the job done well. Buyers are sophisticated enough to spot shoddy, sloppy work. The more neutral the walls, the easier it is for the new buyer to visually move themselves in.

Bathrooms are another critical point for new buyers. Cracking and molding grout lends the idea that the whole bathroom needs work. Amateur attempts at grout repair make matters worse and make the new buyer think there was really a worse problem than they thought. Sparkling clean fixtures, fresh colorful finger towels and a strict minimum of personal effects make this room look fresh, appear larger and pleasant.

Kitchens are another strong focal point. Greasy back splashes and cluttered counters do not convey the most inviting message. This is one room in which dated, busy wallpaper should be removed. Plain walls and a simple border are a big improvement, as this area carries so much importance. Rust stains on sinks and hardware lend the impression that the whole kitchen is outdated. Dark appliances can be painted to look newer. Kitchen floors take a lot more abuse than any other room and can make this room look either dark or fresh and new. Worn, cracked linoleum should be replaced for a sharp clean look.

Many sellers feel that investing in an improvement they do not benefit from is a waste. Statistics indicate that houses that show with fewer objections sell quicker and for more money. If you substantially improve these areas, you can count on a good return for your investment dollars.

New laser surgery treatment available for prostate

As men age, the likelihood of experiencing complications of an enlarged prostate gland increases. The most common result of this enlargement is an interruption of urine flow.

There are several methods of treating an enlarged prostate, one of which is laser surgery. Laser surgery offers patients advantages in that the surgery is minimally invasive, meaning no large incisions are required to perform the surgery. That usually results in limited bleeding, less scarring and less pain following surgery.

Dr. Harsh Kumar, board certified urologist with offices in Waukegan and Libertyville, will present a 10-minute video at the annual meeting of the American Urological Assn.

April 22-27 in Las Vegas, Nev. Filmed at Victory Memorial Hospital, the video, "Use of KTP-532 for Ablation of Prostate," describes Dr. Kumar's minimally invasive surgical technique to reduce prostate enlargement and reinstate the patient's urine flow.

While most urologists use the Nd:YAG laser (sometimes in conjunction with a KTP laser) to create a channel through the prostate's median lobe, Kumar is pioneering the use of the KTP laser without support of the YAG. During the 18-month period from October 1992 to May 1994, Kumar followed 23 patients, aged 57 to 91 years, who underwent KTP laser surgery for enlarged prostate. All of these procedures proved successful.

"I find numerous advantages of the use of the KTP laser over the Nd:YAG for treatment of an enlarged prostate gland. Key to the success of the KTP is the complete vaporization of any tissue causing visible obstruction and the creation of a clear prostatic channel," said Kumar.

Following the vaporization of the unwanted tissue, the patient's urine flow is checked by filling his bladder with irrigation fluid. The force of the fluid stream indicates the creation of a satisfactory channel through the prostate. The procedure is usually completed within one hour and patients remain in the hospital overnight. They return home the next morning after removal of the catheter.

Improving Lake County's residents Heart Health

According to the American Heart Association, nearly 1,000 Lake County residents died from heart disease in 1993. While statistics aren't final for 1994, the numbers are expected to be the same if not higher. Heart disease is the number one killer in the nation and is responsible for claiming a life every 34 seconds, close to one million lives a year. Reducing these statistics in Lake County is the ultimate goal of Victory Memorial Hospital's Cardiac Rehabilitation staff.

"We believe in the importance of re-educating the community and providing people with information that will make them want to lead healthier lifestyles," says Nancy Sislow, assistant vice president of Patient Care Services.

Before individuals can revise their lifestyles, they need to understand the factors which effect their hearts. Seven modifiable risk factors have been found through scientific studies to increase the risk of coronary heart disease. These include high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol, inactivity, obesity, stress, cigarette smoke, and diabetes.

To modify these risk factors, people must re-educate and motivate themselves to change their lifestyles. That is the key to Victory's Cardiac Rehabilitation Program. The three-phase hospital-based education and exercise program is designed for individuals known to be at risk or having a diagnosis of cardiac problems. The program incorporates cardiovascular and muscle strengthening exercises, as well as education to help people make permanent lifestyle changes.

"We consider ourselves crusaders of good health. Our goal is to continually look at ways of improving the services and resources we provide to the community, whether it be expanding space, equipment, or educational materials," says Sislow.

In addition to the formal cardiac rehabilitation program, Victory's staff provides a variety of preventative services for the community. Professional cardiac rehabilitation staff give educational presentations to community organizations and businesses on topics ranging from stress reduction to limiting the fat content in your diet. They also perform a variety of health screenings which include heart risk appraisals, cholesterol and blood pressure screenings on site at area businesses and organizations.

Victory also offers the Healthy Heart Workout Center, providing area residents with the opportunity of using Victory's exercise facilities at a minimal fee. In addition to the community at large, the program allows spouses of patients enrolled in Victory's Cardiac Rehabilitation program the opportunity to exercise with their loved ones and provide needed support. Further exercise alternatives are provided through step aerobics classes.

For further information on opportunities for improving heart health, call Victory's Community Rehabilitation Services at 360-4131.

Highland Park Hospital hosts lecture on infertility treatment

Roughly 15 to 20 percent of couples have fertility problems with older couples having the most difficulty conceiving. Moreover, these problems occur as often in men as they do in women, according to Edward L. Marut, M.D., medical director of the Fertility Center of Highland Park Hospital.

On Thursday, March 16, the Fertility Center of Highland Park Hospital will host a free educational program for couples interested in learning about advances in infertility treatment. "Fertility/Conception Concerns Across Your Lifespan" will explore several new advances, including Intracytoplasmic sperm Injection (ICSI), a male factor treatment.

ICSI is a variation of in vitro fertilization (IVF) which has been a standard clinical technique for many years. Several recent independent studies have demonstrated the efficacy and short-term safety of ICSI. While ICSI is a relatively new procedure, its use for the treatment of male factor infertility is no longer considered experimental.

The lecture will be held in Highland Park Hospital's Education Center beginning at 7 p.m.; doors open at 6:30 p.m. Presenters will include reproductive endocrinologist Edward L. Marut, M.D., and embryologist and laboratory director Colleen Wagner-Coughlin, M.S. Advance registration is required. To register, call 432-1161.

The Fertility Center of Highland Park Hospital is Lake County's first facility providing a full range of assisted reproductive services. The Center's pregnancy success rate from assisted reproductive technology procedures is more than double the national average, as maintained by the American Society for Reproductive Medicine.

For more information about the Fertility

Center of Highland Park Hospital, call 480-3950. Highland Park Hospital is located at 718 Glenview Avenue in Highland Park.

Trim program teaches healthy diet

Good Shepherd Hospital's Health Evaluation Lifestyle Programs (HELP) department will offer a 10-week Trim Team program from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Tuesdays beginning March 21.

The course will be held in Suite 18 of Good Shepherd's Doctors' Office Building located on the hospital campus.

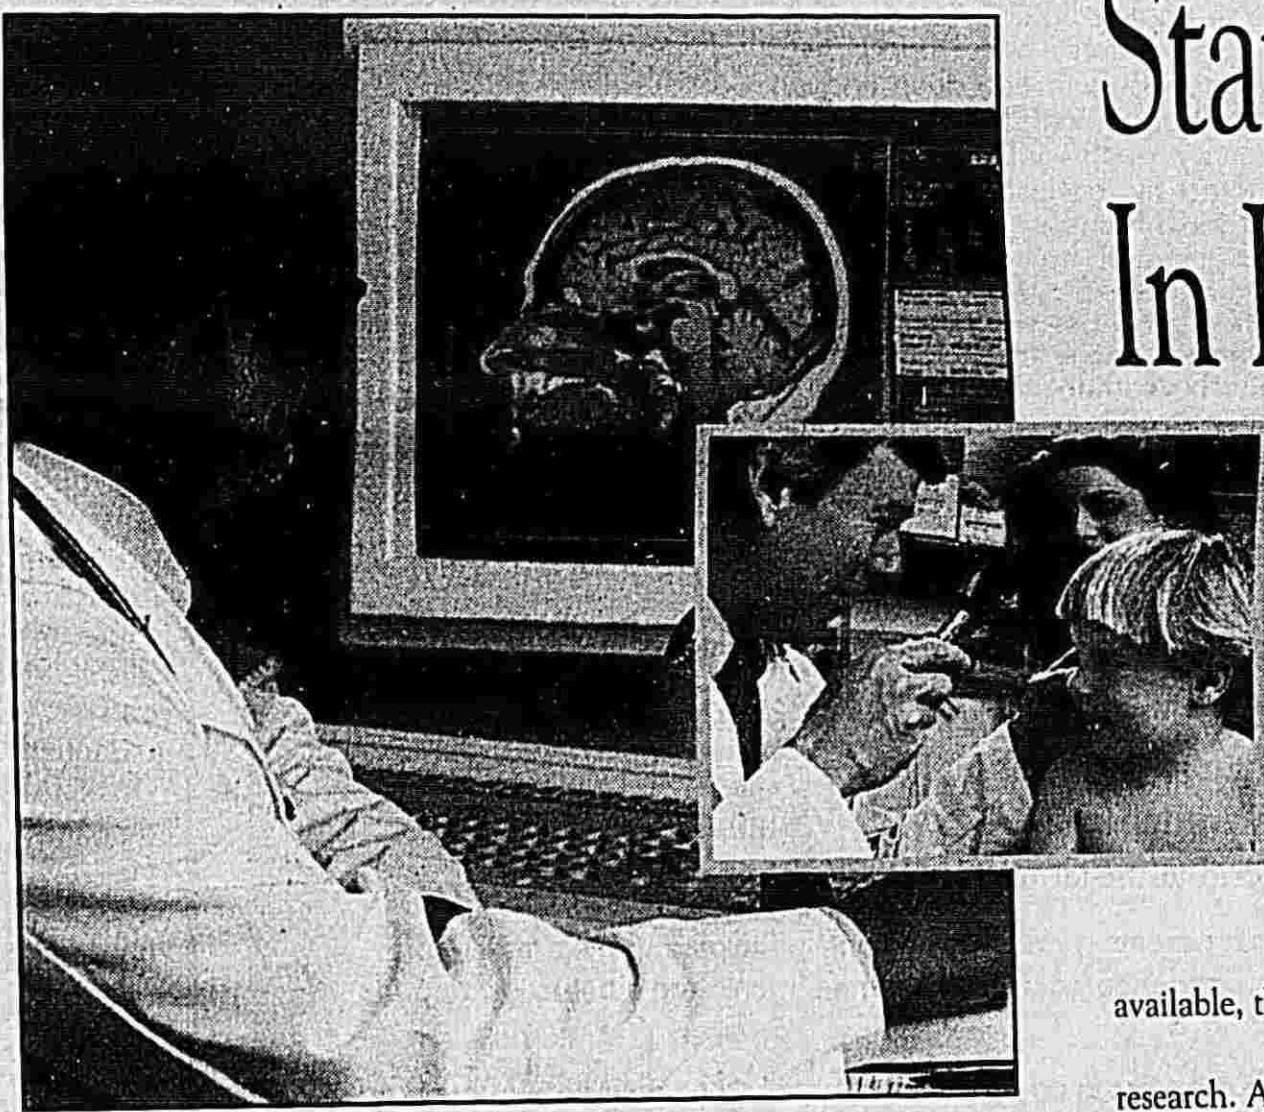

The program is designed to teach persons 18 years of age and older how to lose and maintain a healthy weight through modified eating habits and regular exercise.

Participants receive an individualized diet tailored to personal eating styles that is planned by a registered dietitian for specific calorie and dietary needs. They also are assisted in developing a personal exercise plan by an exercise specialist.

The program fee is $150. For more information or to register, call HealthAdvisor at 1-800-474-3278.

Route 53 update

After attending a village of Mundelein board meeting, I have been enlightened on the true opposition the trustees and mayor are offering. None. The opposition lies in where the toll booths should be, not if they should be constructed. We wonder about how much lighting the extension will bring, not how to stand together as a community who truly could offer opposition to the 53 extension. As a homeowner who just purchased a home in Mundelein, I feel that I was misled by the salesperson and also by the village of Mundelein, whose claims of opposition of this road are questionable. I come forward in hopes that all citizens who oppose the $350 million environmental catastrophe will contact Rep. Al Salvi, Sen. William Peterson, and Gov. Jim Edgar. This extension is still in the planning stages and could be stopped, but only with cooperation of our elected officials, whose job it is to represent the citizens, not sit back and watch this happen to us. The voters are the state of Illinois, and have the right to deny this road in their backyard. Allen J. Stubitsch

Don't believe it

Lake Villa and Lindenhurst voters, know what your taxes are really going up for. The committee of 10 passed a flyer around stating our taxes were going up $22 a month for a $100,000 home, which would be $264. Check their figures. They're really going up 42-percent. On a $100,000 home, it would be $526. On a $150,000 home, it will be $820. Check your information being handed out. Don't believe everything you read!

Get your calculator

When the Gang of 10 came out with their scheme to create a new Lake Villa School District, a newspaper published an article saying that it would only mean an additional $4 per $100 assessed valuation. It doesn't sound like much until you get your tax bill out and do a little simple arithmetic. The figure you get will be in addition to what you're paying now. And the last word is sticker shock. It could be that somebody is looking for some soft jobs in a new school board.

Concerned parent

For the administration at Warren High School. You finally create a safer environment for our children in school in the halls, and after school by hiring a security guard. Then you turn around and let them go. Where are your brains? As parents, we feel our children were much safer with the security guards walking the halls, and then you let them go! Wake up, what's wrong with you?

Tollway a bad idea

I'd like to know if anyone else thinks that Mayor Charlene Beyer is a little bit crazy for wanting an exit and toll booth in Round Lake Park. I'd like to see the whole tollway project scrapped or kept as far away from the Round Lake area as possible.

Don't undermine

In response to 'Disappointed member.' The forums on Slocum Lake are not sponsored by the Slocum Lake Management Association. The plan is to fix up Slocum Lake and the area. During the first forum, we learned about pollution. The second forum focused on development. The third on flooding. In order to prepare the years of damage to the lake, we first have to learn about the causes of degradation. In order to fix the lake, we must fix the problems of the area. The association is diligently working on funding studies of the area and the watershed. And although we did use the voting booths, we have no voting power inside village limits, and this is where many of the problems arise. If you should have any questions or comments, please speak openly at a forum. Undermining the hard work of these residents will get us nowhere.

Bunch of baloney

A circular distributed by Carol Jonilles and friends seems to me to be using scare tactics to get people to petition for a feasibility study for unincorporated Antioch Township. Number 1: pollution of our lakes from oversaturation? Baloney! Man and boy, I have fished these lakes for 70 years and never have I been told that these fish were unsafe to eat. That would be a sure sign of pollution. People swim in these waters every year. No sign of scabrous lesions or skin diseases of any sort. Number 2: flooding contaminates our septic water supplies. Baloney again! Septics are contaminated every time you flush your toilet. Water supplies from a capped well and deep enough so that surface water, if any, can finally reach your well water, is filtered by the layers of earth and stone it has to pass through. As for a study with no cash outlay at this time a possibility? More baloney. If they don't get you now, they will through more taxes or charges when you hook up to the system. Think it over. Don't fix what isn't broken.

Beyer should move

I'd like to say that I think Charlene Beyer should move to Joliet or Elgin since they already have all the amenities she wants for Round Lake Park. They have the expressway, the tollway exits, gambling boats, high crime rates. I think she should just move instead of ruining Round Lake Park.

Deserve better

Of course, teachers are paid better than you are, they deserve to be. They're better educated and those educations did not come cheap. They should be worth more now. Teachers deserve more credit than they're given.

Women aren't porn

I'm calling in response to the moron who objected to so-called pornographic pictures of the beaches in France. Why does he or she find women's breasts to be "pornographic" and an "affront to all in the district of Round Lake Beach and to all people." Excuse me, women make up half the population of this earth. Would you consider it pornographic or an affront to show a man's chest? Fine, our customs dictate more modest clothing for covering women's bodies than men's. But it doesn't make women's bodies pornographic or an affront. It may have been a bad decision on the part of the teacher, but it's not pornography.

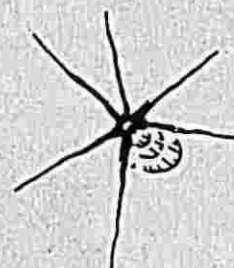

Cover your baby

To the lady who was leaving the Jewel in Antioch on Feb. 8 at 3:45 p.m. You had a little baby with no hat on and nothing to protect its face in the cold weather. That is so cruel to do that to a baby. You should learn how to be a mother and protect his head and face.

Davis was unfair

I'm calling in reference to the obnoxious actions of Grayslake Middle School's Mr. Davis. Recently my mother's work schedule has been changed, forcing her to leave before my brother and I wake up in the morning. Because of her new schedule and the unreliability of the school buses, my brother has been late to school almost every day, causing him to miss a portion of his first class. In order to fix this, he has been forced to leave with my mother and arrive at school an hour early. He received detention for arriving at school early, along with a comment from Mr. Davis that he's not getting paid to babysit kids. Well, Mr. Davis, you're not getting paid to harass them, either. Conflict of interest

First let me say that I think the whole idea of Lake Villa and Lindenhurst having their own school district is a great idea. I don't blame them. If I had a child I would not like to have to drive a long way for school activities and various functions. I also would like a Mercedes in my driveway, but at what cost? I know that Antioch would like a better high school, and if this unit district goes through, and you can check these figures with the Gang of 10 or Dr. Daniel Burke in Dist. 34, the taxpayers will have an increase in taxes of 26 percent in Antioch. Now Lake Villa and Lindenhurst, your taxes will go up a whopping 42 percent. You have Joann Osmond of Lake Villa to thank for that. She is a member of the Antioch High School Board, and I think Antioch should think seriously about asking her to resign due to a conflict of interest.

Wake up call

We are so thrilled that people are finally realizing what Hawthorn School is really all about and all the cover-ups that go on there. It is not the school it was two years ago. There is gang activity there, and there is proof of that. We are sick and tired of the principal saying there is no such problem as gangs in the school district. That's why they send letters home to kids telling them what they can and can't wear color-wise. Let's wake up, parents. There's a lot of trouble in that school and it's all covered up. It's time to do something about it and stand our ground.

Problems at school

Hi. If there are no such problems at Hawthorn School, then why were there three children dragged out and handcuffed by cops because they hit teachers there? And it took them long enough to get this in the paper because it happened weeks ago. There are problems there and I think something should be done about the administration. Thank you.

Marionette time

This is to Can't Have Her. Just because you want to keep Mary Davis, it doesn't mean the majority of the Round Lake population does.

Kids on the waiting list

This is to the person who said I had it half right about the couples waiting for adoption. I should know, I do it for a living and there are thousands of kids waiting for adoption, not couples. The only reason couples wait is because they all want little babies. Once a kid hits a certain age, they don't want anything to do with it. Now, if they adopted kids regardless of age, there wouldn't be any couples waiting, period. And we'd still have kids waiting, because there are more kids than couples. So get it right before you open your mouth.

Population worries

The government predicts that by the year 2050, the population of the United States will have doubled and that will result in less farmland to produce products and our food bills will be 50 percent of our budget. So go ahead, don't think about the rest of the population or your children. After you have two children, go ahead and have three or four because you want a girl or boy. You're just ruining your future and the rest of ours.

Take responsibility

Dear people of Round Lake: It has been brought to our attention in a recent article that Kim Kirby, union president/so-called teacher, was arrested last week for driving on a suspended driver's license, which he lost earlier this year for passing a Round Lake school bus. This is the same person who said his union was looking out for the welfare of our children. What a hypocrite! He should not be allowed to be responsible for the education of our kids when he cannot be responsible in his own life.

Strike not over

The best union our tax money can buy, Round Lake School teachers belong to the NEA and IEA, National Education Assn. So why is there an EARL? What is a union? It is an organization that represents its membership's problems during negotiations. The membership is usually represented by a steward who collects problems and brings it to the union's attention. In EARL we have a five-headed monster who spends most of their time being union leaders, not teachers.

First-class complaint

I'd like to know why the Village of Round Lake Heights Village Improvement Party can use the Round Lake Heights bulk mailing permit for campaign literature, when the Concerned Citizens Party hand delivers it, so you can tell that they're cost-effective and not costing the taxpayers money by promoting campaign literature using the village's bulk rate permit. Thank you.

Ban hunting farms

This is a letter that we have just written and will be sending to Lincoln Park Zoo and I wanted to share it with you. Dear Lincoln Park Zoo, My son and I just saw the report on Channel 2 News about the sale of some of your zoo animals to hunting farms. We are shocked and disappointed about this discovery and we felt we needed to let you know what we thought about this. My son is 3 1/2 and this is what he has to say: 'No hunting! Please don't kill the animals. It is not fair. They can't even get away or fight back. It is wrong. Hunting farms should all be closed.' I was looking forward to coming to the zoo this spring, but now I don't think we will be visiting your zoo, as the memory of this report will surface again.

Combo platter

I'm from Round Lake Park and I think it's time that the village board here decides that maybe the best way to handle the police department is to combine them with the Round Lake Police Dept. and we could save the price of a new police station sitting right in the middle of the business district with all the taverns and wouldn't chase all the business out of town and we could put more squad cars and more policemen on the road that way. I don't think there's a lot of interest in people having a new police station right in the center of town. Thank you.

Senior complaints

Senators and congressman, especially that Dole, make me sick. All I have to say is he just better keep his cotton-pickin' hands off and out of the Social Security fund. It was not meant for them to use as they see fit. I hope that Democrat Tim Conrad will hold to what he wants, and that's hands off of Social Security funds. Are you listening, Mr. Dole? It isn't enough that we seniors are being taxed and put out of our homes because of all these taxes that we are being taxed to death for, and that's the schools.

I REALLY WISH I KNEW WHY PEOPLE HAVE FUNERALS

Students of human behavior tell us that ceremonies for saying goodbye have existed as long as man. Ceremonies mark events in the lives of people and communities. Weddings mark new families; baptisms and bar mitzvahs welcome children and adolescents into society. Death marks the end of life. The funeral acknowledges that a life has been lived. People express their feelings about life through ceremony. Funerals also provide a socially accepted way for people to come together to support the grieving family. If there were no funerals, how would you find a way to tell a family that you cared about their loss.

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear...Search: I am employed with a company who takes the approach that all seven people in our immediate department are responsible for making sure the work load gets done. No one leaves after the work day until all orders are posted and we are not paid overtime. Over the last several weeks, I have never left work earlier than 45 minutes after quitting time due to an overage of orders that are still not logged. I have personally watched throughout the day and have noticed that there are two people who waste an abundance of time with things unrelated to work. They sit on the telephone chit-chatting with their boyfriends or taking unnecessary time to walk over to other departments to have conversations that could otherwise be handled with a quick call. Others in the department have noticed this and have asked me to be the spokesperson to our Supervisor in hopes that he will notice as well that we all could pull together a bit more and have a normal work schedule. While I am not afraid to go to him, I don't want him to think that I don't love my job because I do. Do you have any suggestions? M.K. - Lake Villa

A: Dear M.K. First thing you will want to do is document the scenario. List problems that you foresee being "time wasters", such as the walks to other departments and repeated personal telephone calls. Try not to point any fingers at your co-workers, yet allow your Supervisor to know that he, himself can pinpoint the time wasters. Reinforce the fact that you love your position with the company and believe that by coming to him with your ideas that your goal is to make this department the most efficient it can be. It's difficult to work in a group or team environment with a "slacker". But more importantly, no one likes to work the overtime without pay. Especially when the overtime is indeed not necessary. Perhaps your supervisor is the type who is seldom around and involved in other things throughout the day. You may want to make the suggestion (if this is the case), that the department have a "group coordinator" who can report directly to him and yet be the sounding board for the co-workers. I believe that any good supervisor or manager would be pleased to have employees with bona fide concerns that could aide in keeping their department a better place to work. When the time is right, ask your supervisor if he could possibly find some time to meet with you. Have everything you want to say on paper so nothing is left out. Sometimes when someone is nervous, they will ultimately forget the most important thing they came in to discuss. Handle yourself professionally. Don't go in with the intention of pointing fingers. Just state the facts and do what you feel could be done to correct this. Let me know how it goes. Good luck!

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 4949 Grand Ave., Gurnee, IL 60031.

Hi, my name is Jake and I'm a fluffy all-black cat who needs a good home. My current owners are very nice and are sad to see me go, but we all decided it would be best if I found a new home since they are expecting a new baby. My ideal home would be with a family that's loving and has older kids and a backyard to play in. I'm house-trained, but I need to be neutered. Call my owners at 548-5637 (after 5 p.m.) if it sounds like we're compatible. See you soon!

Easing Your Tax Burden

Several tax tips on getting it right the first time

Did you know using the peel-off label in your federal income tax package will speed the processing of your tax return and get your refund to you faster? I've gathered up all my tax tips for this week's column.

Some people are wary of using the label because they may not understand the letters and numbers on it. Those characters, which include computer shorthand for the taxpayer's name and social security number, contain important information which helps send your tax return quickly and safely through our system, and prevent common errors which can be caused by illegible or incorrect information.

Here's another tip. Check and double-check the social security numbers for you, your spouse, and any dependents you may be claiming. It's also extremely important for your name and social security number to match. If you were recently married and have changed your name, you will need to provide this information to both the Social Security Administration and the IRS so your records can be updated. The IRS will be matching tax information with Social Security information. Information that does not match will cause a delay in your refunds, perhaps as much as eight weeks.

Here are a few more tips to help you file a complete and accurate tax return:

- Double-check your math. Some of the most common mistakes on tax returns are simple math errors.

- Make sure you put information on the correct line. Frequently people take information from one schedule and put it on the wrong line on the Form 1040.

- Make sure you use the right tax tables. Many people use the wrong filing status when checking the tables.

- Assemble your return in the order of the "sequence number" that is shown in the upper right hand corner of the schedule or form.

- Attach any required W-2s, 1099s, and other income statements.

- If you owe additional tax, attach your check on the front of your tax return in the space indicated. Otherwise your check could be misplaced if it is "buried" inside the return.

- Make sure you write out "Internal Revenue Service" on your check and not just the letters IRS, which can easily be altered.

- Sign your return. If you're filing a joint return, both spouses must sign.

After you complete your return, set it aside for a day or two. Then re-check the entire return one more time.

And don't forget to keep a copy of not only your return, but all records and receipts.

One final tip. It's very important to make sure you have enough postage on the envelope when you send in your tax return; however, there is an alternative. Skip the stamp and file your tax return electronically. Returns filed electronically have fewer errors because the software programs used to prepare and transmit the return catch mistakes up front.

By reducing errors, you can avoid refund delays and additional correspondence from the IRS.—by MARYLYN DAY, district director, Internal Revenue Service, Chicago District

Experienced Lancers ready to take on new season

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

A sophomore-dominated College of Lake County baseball squad is anxious for the crack-of-the-bat and fielding baseballs on grass instead of a gym floor. The Lancers are likely to get that chance as they head to Millikin University in Decatur March 11-12 for the season opening contests.

"We have a sophomore group so we probably did not need as much time inside as we took. We are getting a little cabin fever," CLC Coach Gene Hanson said.

A sophomore will start in each position for CLC.

"I feel good that the kids have worked quite hard," Hanson said.

Catching is solid with returning starter Steve Taylor of Grayslake, freshman Matt Head, a Carmel standout and transfer Jeff Randall of Round Lake. "Taylor is smart and talented defensive catcher who has a strong, accurate arm. Randall started at Kishwaukee and may be the best hitter and will push for playing time. Head is a solid and as he gains experience, he will get playing time," Hanson said.

The veteran CLC coach admitted defense was bad last year in a 39-win season. CLC expects better defense led by all-Skyway Conference second baseman Matt Pulaski, who will lead off and be a catalyst on offense. All conference shortstop Curt Salata is back as is first baseman Eric Blaha of Antioch.

"Salata could be the best shortstop in the state," Hanson said. The battle is at third base between soph Scott Ellenwood of Round Lake and transfer Steve Greenspan.

Olson, Blaha and Tony Junkel are the keys to the CLC hitting attack. "We do not have a lot of power hitters, and those three have to come up with the big RBIs," Hanson said.

Pitching is led by Bret Bowles, who was 6-2 last year.

"Pitching is a question mark," Hanson said.

He likes the progress made by sophomores Scott Cartier, Joe Hird, Scott Schupp and fellow sophs Josh Williams and Tom Anselm. "One of the sophomores will be used as a closer," Hanson said. "The pitchers do not have to strike out many batters, but they have to avoid walks and challenge the hitters for us to do well," Hanson said.

Oakton and Waubesa are the pre-season Skyway Conference favorites while Blackhawk is the team to beat in the state finals. CLC was one win away from the national tourney last year, losing to Lincoln 10-6.

Gymnastics Factory takes two first

The Grayslake Gymnastics Factory Level 8 Team girls gave strong performances at their first meet at Midwest Academy of Gymnastics in Warrenville. Two of the girls, Kim Sommer and Ashley Alden, both took first for All-Around in their age divisions. Competing gymnasts were:

•Ashley Alden of Park City, all-around score of 35.85, 9.10 on floor, 8.60 on vault, 9.15 on beam and 9.0 on bars.

•Kim Sommer of Gurnee, all-around score of 34.25, 8.60 on floor, 8.50 on vault, 9.0 on beam and 8.15 on bars.

•Lauren Shipp of Libertyville, 33.20 all-around, 8.65 on floor, 8.65 on vault, 8.20 on beam and 7.70 on bars.

•Greta Thomas of Hawthorn Woods, 33.20 all-around, 8.30 on floor, 8.40 on vault, 8.40 on beam and 8.10 on bars.

•Bocci Meyer of Lindenhurst, 33.20 all-around, 8.75 on floor, 8.45 on vault, 8.05 on beam and 6.95 on bars.

Coleman is third scorer for NIU

Chris Coleman entered the Mid-Continent Conference post-season tournament as Northern Illinois University's third leading scorer.

Coleman averages 13.4 points per game in 25 contests. He has 348 points.

Coleman is shooting 41 percent for field goals, 34 percent for three-point shots. He leads the Huskies with 51 three-pointers.

The Stevenson High grad averages 6.4 rebounds a contest, also third best for the 17-9 Huskies.

NIU finished the regular season with a 80-67 loss to University of Illinois-Chicago. NIU was 7-8 in the league.

Coleman set a school record with six steals early this season against Rockford. His high for points was 25 against Butler in an 89-70 NIU win. The MCC tourney was in Dayton, Ohio, hosted by Wright State.

Golden Gloves finals to begin

Championships for the 67th annual Chicago Golden Gloves will be held on Monday, March 13, and Tuesday, March 14, as announced by the Mayor's Office of Special Events. The bouts will be held at St. Andrew's Gym, located at Paulina and Addison, beginning at 7 p.m. each night. Tickets are $20, $15 and $10, and may be obtained through Ticketmaster at (312)559-1212.

Stevenson's girls proudly claim state title, trophy

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

May the attempt at a dynasty begin.

With only two seniors on the roster, top-ranked Stevenson High is hoping for more large Class AA trophies as the team led by junior Tauja Catchings and sophomore Tamika Catchings defends its state title.

The Patriots left that impression on the more than 7,000 fans at Redbird Arena at Illinois State University with a 77-47 win over Mother McAuley of Chicago. The state championship is the first women's state basketball title for a Lake County team in the 18-year tournament history.

Stevenson dominated from start to finish in the title game as Tauja Catchings led with 18 points, Tamika Catchings had 14 as did senior Rebekah Ford. Katie Coleman had 16 points and all players had a chance to see playing time.

"It was a lot of fun. I would like to be down here another year or two. I felt we had some calm intensity. We held three teams who were averaging in the 60's to 47 points. I was very proud of our defense," Stevenson Coach Frank Mattucci said.

The 33-2 season, capped off by a celebration Sunday, was not the easiest certainly. The Patriots' togetherness was tested, first by the death of Louis Mattucci, Frank's father, during a game. The team's only conference loss came to Warren with the Catchings' sisters absent due to the death of their paternal grandfather.

"We are not going to change anything. We are going to stay humble, we have to stay grateful and you can't take shortcuts. Once you do that, the program falters," Mattucci said.

"We deserved it. We have been through a lot of adversity. We never set out to win games by x margin of points, just to play hard, play great defense and be unselfish. Defense has been a constant," Mattucci said.

"Great players like Tamika, Tauja and Katie Coleman come around once in a lifetime. They handled it (the state pressure) with class and poise," the coach added.

"Coach made sure we did not get big headed about it. We all had the same goal - to win the conference championship," Tamika said.

Tamika, who was 2-for-5 shooting from the field in the title game but made 10-of-11 free-throws, has some lofty basketball ambitions.

"I would like to play basketball in the NBA for the Charlotte Hornets," she said.

Mattucci said he is proud of the talented depth the Patriots possess. Beyond the "big three", Ford saved the best game of her career for last with 5-of-7 shooting from the field and a perfect 4-of-4 from the free-throw line. Carolyn Roth, whom Mattucci said had improved since Christmas, came in when Coleman suffered a rib injury and scored 5 points. Tricia DeClark scored 2 points in 9 minutes. Guard Christy Miller did not score but continued her gutsy play despite a dislocated thumb.

"The bench came through. We talked about it this morning about the bench helping us to stay alive, active and it is tough to be a role player off the pines. You make a mistake or two and you get yanked. They kept these guys in line and focused," Mattucci said.

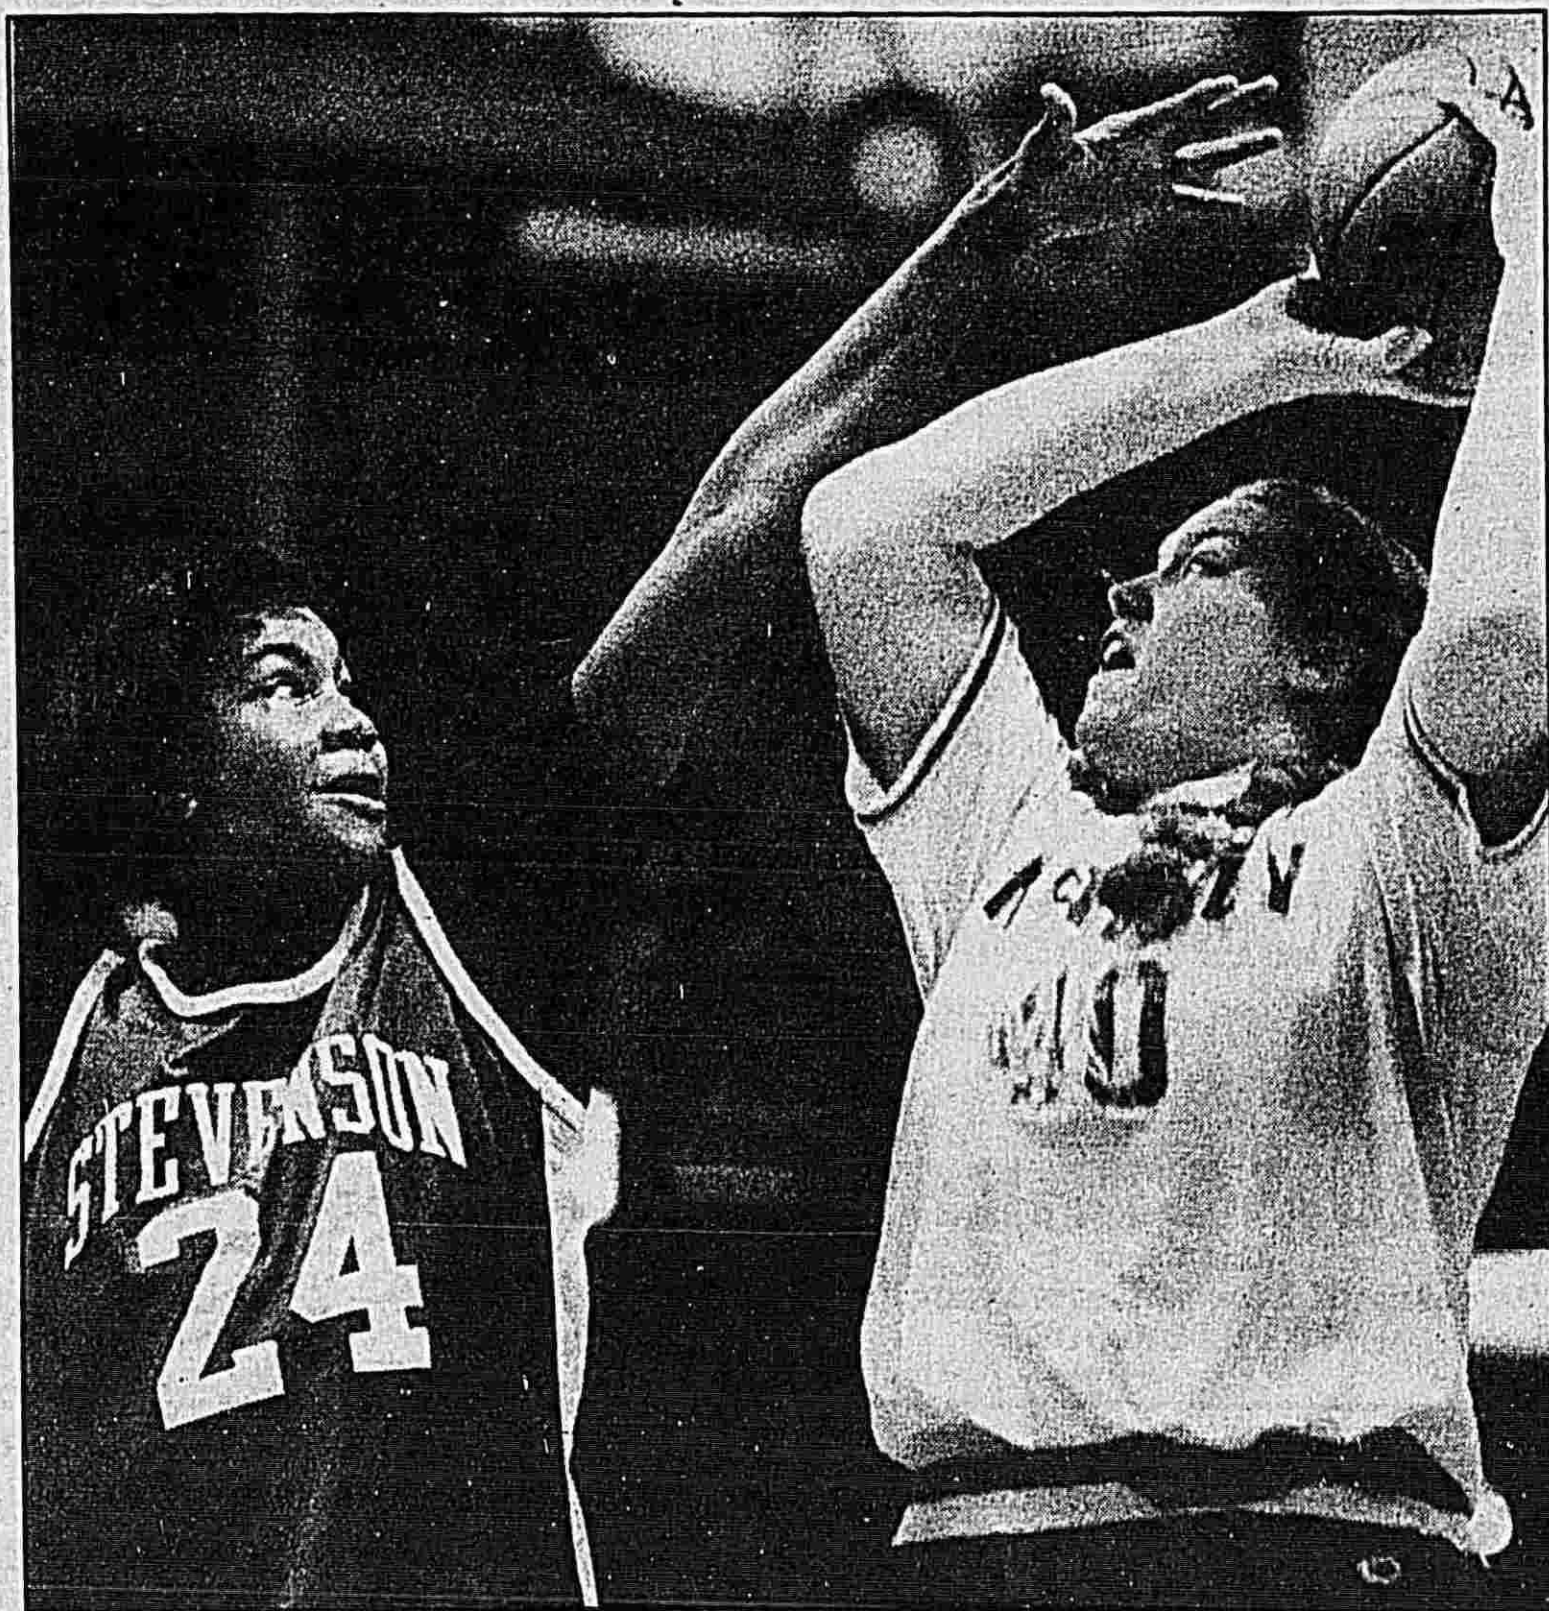

Stevenson plays a tough schedule with tournaments at Dundee-Crown and Maine West, where they will be continuing play next year, and that helped the Pats gain the title game. "The tough schedule came to play with the Joliet and Freeport wins. They did not played as hard a competition. Not that they chose that way, but it was the way chips fell for them. I thought McAuley was tournament ready. They played as tough or tougher schedule than we did but they ran into a buzzsaw - the Patriots of Stevenson," Mattucci said.

"I was not thinking about 'stepping up' or anything, but just trying to make people feel more comfortable out there because they are not normally out there as much," Tauja Catchings said of her 18-point, 9 rebound effort.

"Great players, when they get nervous, play harder. They make good things happen. They do not run in the corner and hide," Mattucci said.

"If we stayed healthy and See STEVENSON page C23 stayed focused and did not allow outside distractions to ruin our focused, I really believed we could do it," Matucci said.

There were few mistakes as the Patriots played a near perfect first quarter. It took the Macs three minutes to get a shot off as they committed five turnovers against the defense. The Catchings duo dared the Macs guards to bring the ball up the floor, resulting in the miscues. When Tauja Catchings made a basket following the sixth turnover following a pass from Coleman, Stevenson had a 12-0 lead with Tauja accounting for half of Stevenson's offense.

Tourney officials could have begun to place the "S" on the state tourney trophy when two Coleman free throws upped the lead to 16-7. The letters could have gone as far as "Steve" by the end of the first quarter. An outside jumper by Ford gave the Pats a commanding 22-9 lead in just eight minutes of play.

Coleman was out of action for a minute of the second quarter, as she hit the floor hard in a rebound clash. She returned less than two minutes later.

The "ns" could be placed on the trophy by the time the lead reached 19 points. Coleman showed no ill effects of the spill she had just suffered when she went coast-to-coast for a lay-up basket. Roth then hit a free throw for a 39-20 lead.

It was time to plan the strategy of when to dump the water on coach when the lead reached better than 20 points in the third.

The fourth quarter was time for some memorable moments for the substitutes.

Jamie Smith, Amy Chamness and Noelle Mendenwaldt all had free throws as the starters acknowledged their efforts.

"It wasn't meant to be. I don't think we played our game," Mother McAuley coach Barbara Edward said.

"All the girls can improve in some areas of the game. We welcome the challenge to try and defend. We felt we are representing Illinois basketball," Matucci said.

And folks in Lincolnshire are hoping that continues for more than one season.

Seniors relish state championship

Jamie Smith calmly leaned against one of the side tables as the Stevenson High post-game celebration continued. Smith, a senior, celebrated the end of her high school career by making a free throw. Other Stevenson players would score 76 other points in a 77-47 romp over Mother McAuley.

"It feels great. We overcame a lot," Smith said.

Smith, No. 21 in your program, was in an auto accident just weeks before. She went from being in danger for her life to clutching a first-place state medal at Illinois State University.

"I cannot explain it," she said of her feelings.

"The car was totaled and the next night she was on crutches," Richard Smith, Jamie's Dad, said. "It would temper the most disciplined person. It showed us that basketball is just a game."

"I was glad to see Smith get into the scoreboard," Stevenson Coach Frank Matucci said.

Smith described her role on the team as "to encourage the other players".

"I am really lucky to be here," she told a crowd of well-wishers the next day back at Stevenson High.

Rebekah Ford also ended her Stevenson career with a medal. She scored 14 points on 5-of-7 shooting and was a perfect 4-of-4 from the free-throw line.

"I will miss it a lot. I will miss all the practices, games. It was an honor," Ford said.

Ford scored 5 points in the 64-47 semifinal win over Freeport and a single point in the 70-40 quarterfinal romp over Joliet.

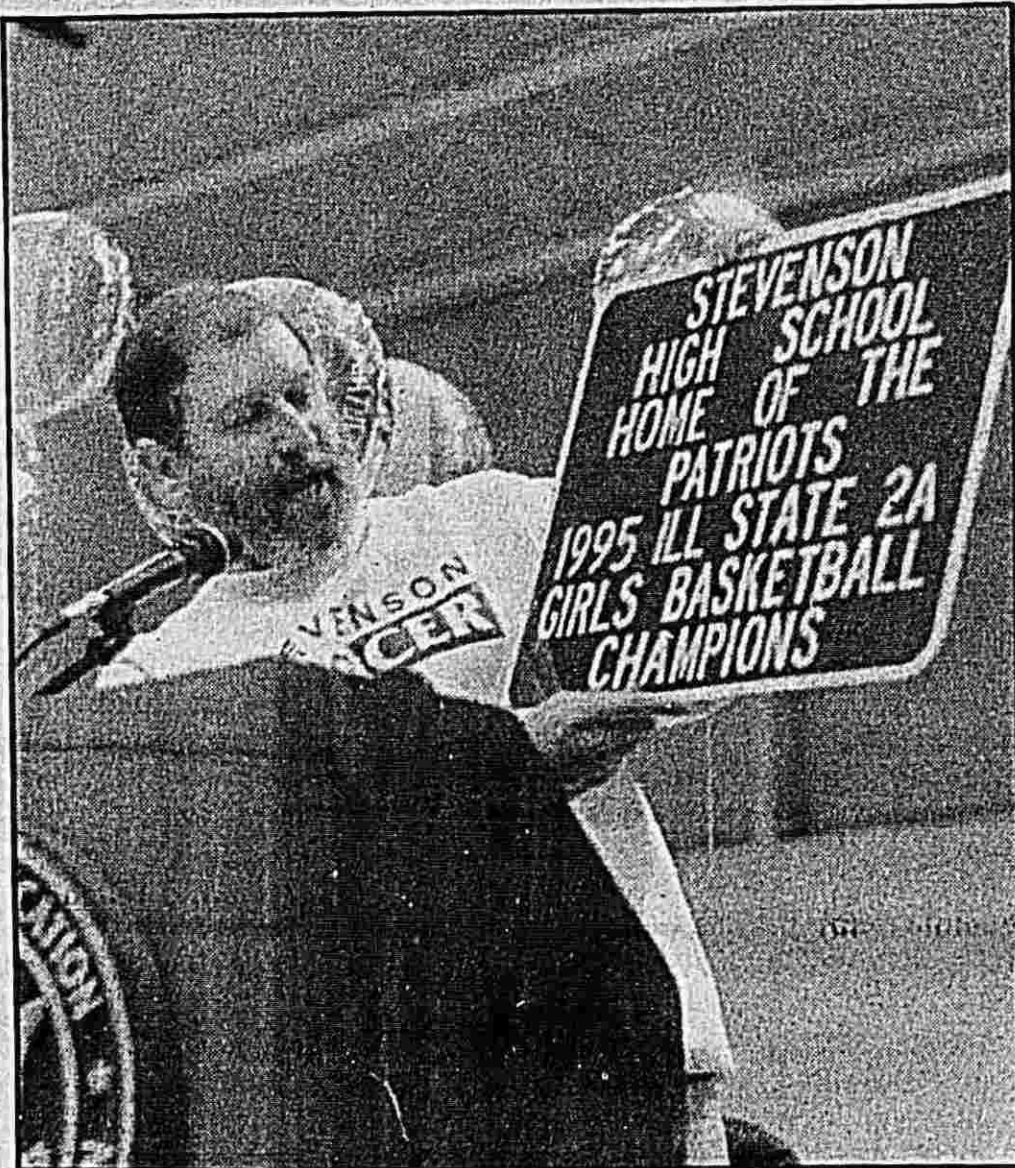

Ford came into the title game averaging 4.4 points a game on 34 percent field-goal shooting. She contributed 63 assists, fourth best on the team. She had previously been named to the all-North Suburban Conference team.

She hopes to take her still improving talents to the collegiate level next year.

Smith's averages were just 1.3 points a game in 24 contests. Just a chance to be on the bench was more than enough satisfaction.

Both started their basketball careers when a new coach named Frank Matucci was named to take over at SHS four seasons ago. Stevenson was no where near its lofty No. 1 state ranking, as it was an also-ran to the likes of Libertyville and Warren in the NSC.

The seniors can look back on that three-peat as conference champs, getting over the hump with a sectional title over Libertyville this year and all the memories which will be discussed at family gatherings 10-15 years from now.

Sidney Mathias, mayor of Buffalo Grove, proudly displays sign which will be erected soon. Sign honors Stevenson High's state girls basketball champions.
